business interests in the community and probably a certain business interests in a day on two days a week. the community. This is all well and good as it is important that we maintain a sound and viable business environment in the community. However, I wonder if perhaps the aforementioned factors may have an underlying relationship to the rerouting and "beefingup" of the bus service. Is the underlying objective, an attempt to shuttle people to the numerous retail locations in and around the town so as to sustain business in light of an overretailed situation in town or is it that business interests in Travelways bus company are to be courted by lining the company's pockets with not only local taxpayers money, but also provincial taxpayers money, because this is surely what is happening when the town guarantees the bus company x-cents per mile and then splits any deficit, not covered by collected fares, on a 50-50 basis with the Frovincial Government.

It appears to me that raying according to mileage in this instance, is an absolute giveaway to the

It is almost unbelievable!

The relocation of local bus routes in town is meeting very vocal resistance from all parts of Richmond Hill from those who object to a "deterioration in the service" which they had previously found quite satisfactory, from those who miss the convenience of the bus running past their door and from those who for the first time are seeing buses on their residential streets. One of the latter has this to say to the Richmond Hill transportation committee: Dear Sirs:

The operation of such monstrosities as these buses on quiet residential streets seems to us to display an almost total disrespect for the general health and well being of a considerable portion of the community. We wonder when this affront on human dignity, personal privacy and well being will

We pay, as I'm sure most of our neighbors do, substantial municipal taxes and yet we do not experience improvements in our living environment but rather apparent regression. Even in light of these relatively high taxes we endure roads that would be more appropriate in the "back country", (this is not to say we want wider roads to carry more trucks and buses but rather a smooth surface which would stand-My wife and I would like up for more than one

What are our elected representatives trying to do? Are they interested in the general good of the town's people?

I would like at this point to anticipate parts of your response and provide you with counter responses. It may be said that the elderly people in town need a means to get to shopping areas and also the vital necessity to provide service to the Hospital. This will be a heart rendering response but may I say that such service may be provided at a small fraction of the present cost and without the commensurate inconvenience to the community at large, by either instituting a "callup" type transportation system using small vans or, if the town is interested in providing service at even less cost, by instituting a system whereby the town subsidizes local taxi services for certain categories of transportation within the

Another response may be that the service was instituted (re-routed and "beefed-up") based on numerous requests for such services by the community at large. If such is the case, then where is the documentation to support such allegations? Were proper surveys taken? If so, where is the report and supporting documentation? Was the survey done by town limits.

What percentage of those wanting service would also not be concerned if the bus ran on a scheduled basis on their street? Why, if such a large portion of the population desire local bus service, are the buses running empty 90 percent of the time and with two or three people and the other 10 percent. It seems there are a lot of questions that need to be answered.

Meal wheel volunteer need in North York

If you live in North York and can spare two hours a month, have a car and are interested in the problems of the aged and shut-ins, Meals on Wheels needs you.

This program provides hot noon meals to the elderly, handicapped and convalescent persons in the area. The volunteer is often the only person the shut-in sees all day. Such volunteer is involved not only in delivering meals, but in supplying a few moments of human contact.

Volunteers work in twoperson teams, from between one and one-half to two and one-half hours per day, one or more days per month Expenses for gas and use of car are paid by the organization.

Her assistant in the Richmond Hill core is Mrs. Helen Foord, 884-7191. They are looking for volunteers who will help in distributing boxes and other minor but very important chores which will ensure the success of their campaign.

THORNHILL LEADER Mrs. Lois Wilkinsons, 889-6754, whose area extends from Thornhill west, reports her committee is pretty well organized, but she is in desperate need of a couple of good responsible volunteers in Maple. Mrs. Anita Ryan of Markham, 297-2848, is chairman for the most easterly portion of Southern York, and Mrs. Shirley Horton, 727-9390, responsible for the most easterly portion of Southern York, and Mrs. Shirley Horton, 727-9390, responsible for the King and medical supplies for the Aurora area.

Where schools are not participating, Mrs. Guest has found considerable support from other community groups such as Scouts, Guides and church local water supplies and groups. William Lazenby, Mrs. Bonnie Quinnell expressed the feeling of the residents of Centre Street west of Elizabeth in the following

"This letter is in regard to the change of bus routes in situated at Centre West and Bridgeford, and there are now 58 buses passing by our house continually, from as early as 6 am until 9 pm.

NO ADVANCE SURVEY "This was a quiet, older, graceful, residential section of town, and these buses have turned it into a polluted, noisy environment in which to live. No survey was taken in this area, as to whether or not the residents wished these routes. There are never more than four or five passengers on these buses, and indeed, many times the buses are completely empty.

"Now I realize many people depend on local transportation, but surely one street does not have to bear the brunt of the whole

"Most of the residents on Centre Street feel as I do, and it is hoped that this situation will be reviewed and remedied immediately.'

MAYOR REPLIES

In his reply, the mayor

"I can appreciate your concern for the change in the local bus route, but such changes were made on the advice of a qualified consultant to improve the service and accommodate a large section of the community. I realize this has produced some hardship for certain residents, especially the senior citizens.

"Your comments and concern with regard to noise and pollution will certainly be relayed to Travelways Limited, and your letter in total will be referred to the traffic, transportation and parking committee for comment. However, I must note that if the inconvenience suffered by the residents of your area due to the buses using your streeet must be maintained, I hope that you and your neighbours will accept such in the same vane as have the residents of the many streets upon which the buses travelled in the past, and on these which they continue to use at present. "The route and schedule, I believe, will be under review in the near future and possibly some of your concerns will be alleviated Thank you for taking the time to bring these matters to me by letter.'

Residents in other areas of town have also been expressing their displeasure at the changes in bus service. At the September 23 meeting of council, Regional Councillor Mrs. Lois Hancey turned over to Chairman of the Transportation Committee Councillor Graeme Bales, 84 letters of dissatisfaction collected by Frank Correa of Colborne patrons of the local tran-George Harrison will also sportation system. The letters came from all sections of the east side of town. Another 41 letters have been received since, bringing the total to 125.

Other users of the local buses want the southern route to swing into Hillcrest Mall to discharge and load passengers.
