Cancer Society Mrs. Helen Gellany was hostess to the King Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society at their meeting

November 4. One hundred and fifty felt and leather kits were prepared for the diversional therapy unit of Princess Margaret Hospital and Lodge. And 21 dressings prepared by 24 volunteers for the Aurora Unit.

The December meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Ann Wilson on Kingsworth Drive on the 2nd. Gifts for the Aurora gift cupboard will be accepted at this time. Kingcrafts

Over the years, Kingcrafts Studio has built up an excellent reputation for handmade articles, and it seems more and more people are demanding such articles. Studio Sale Days this year are November 23 and 30, and December 7, 10 am to 3:30 pm. New articles each Saturday. Admission is free and refreshments are served. Lunch will be available at King United Church November 23rd only. Articles for sale include art, batik, ceramics, garden arts, hooking, leathercraft, copper enamelling, needlecraft, quilted goods, spinning, weaving, knitting and crocheting, and a pantry

A Studio preview will be held November 22, 8 to 10 pm. All Kingcrafts members and husbands are invited to attend. There will be no sales at this preview, but orders may be placed on certain exclusive articles. Historical Society

King Township Councillor Bill Long figures the right time for fellow members to raise their own salaries is before an election and not after it That's why he proposed Monday afternoon of last week that salaries for councillors be increased from $3,200 to $4,800. Mayor Margaret Britnell's would go from $6,000 to $8,000. These figures were later reduced by a vote of council. "Ratepayers are always criticizing councils for deciding to raise salaries after an election thereby providing them with no opportunity to express their Councillor Stan Kuniski said that "regardless of our decision as to how much we won't be popular. I think that there should be some kind of independent body to decide on things such as this."

Mayor Britnell finally cut off the debate by calling for a vote. "If we feel a salary increase is warranted we should be willing to face the music."

Council supported the resolution recommending that a bylaw to increase council salaries to $4,000 and Mayor Britnell's to $7,000 be prepared and considered at council's next meeting.

Now that Hallowe'en is behind us, it's time to think about Christmas, and that means Christmas cards.

UNICEF volunteers sell Christmas cards and calendars - and last year $286,713 was collected in Ontario from the sale of these items.

Proceeds from the sale of Christmas cards go to help children of developing countries, wherever there is need. The money buys a variety of things such as food, schooling, agricultural items and health care.

This year the designs on the cards have been donated by artists or museums, so there is a variety of classical and contemporary art work as well as a series of "Mother and Child" pictures by Renaissance artists, so there should be something to suit everyone's taste.

Three Canadian artists are included: Emily Carr. "The Forest Landscape II" (for nature lovers), Antoine Dumas "The Peewee" (for Oak Ridges Hockey en thusiasts); and a note "Through Loving Eyes" by Marcelle Maltais (for writing Christmas thank yous).

For those of my readers who wish to support

UNICEF, cards and calendars will be available at Jean's Children's Wear, Yonge Street, Oak Ridges, phone 773-4468.

Poor turnout at meeting but group will continue BY JANET RUSSELL executive who had worked

It could have been the bad weather - after all it was pouring with rain - or it could have been the great deal of illness there is in town - or it could have been just plain old apathetic laziness — which prevented most parents from turning out for the home and school association meeting November 5.

It was a good meeting and those parents who didn't show up (and that was most of them) missed two good talks by Master Teachers Don Olds and John Lewis. The 12 parents who did attend, plus the executive, very impressive. guest speakers and several teachers who came after another meeting, made a grand total of 24 people by my reckoning. I know this was a disappointment to the so hard. President Bob Dion, addressing the audience, asked if we felt there really was a need for a home and school association, but it was decided to go on, as all who attended were enthusiastic and dedicated. The first speaker, Don Olds, is a master teacher in science and his talk was about outdoor education. He had the audience's attention from the start and made his talk come alive so that we could picture exactly what he was referring to as he spoke. It was a quiet talk but

John Lewis, a teacher in audio visual media, on the other hand, had us curious and amused almost immediately. I'm not going into detail because I'm hoping the executive will invite him again. He did play a tape which had us all in stitches and quizzed us as to how good we were at listening and then showed us

It was the best home and school meeting I've attended and for those of you who couldn't attend because of sickness or prior commitment, I'd like to say "See you next time".

For the others who couldn't be bothered, "You missed a great meeting and we need your support". If anyone has any suggestions regarding projects for the school or ideas for fund-raising, please call Bob Dion 773-4590 or Mrs. Sheelagh Jefferies 773-4669 and let them know your views.
