

Councillor-elect Burnie's wife June busy community worker

Congratulations to Mike Burnie and to his wife June and children, David aged 10, Melissa aged six and Stephanie aged two, who all live at 275 Carrville Road, on Mike's election to Richmond Hill Council's Ward 6 seat.

You are all familiar now with Mike's interests in the community. But you should also know that June is also very active in community work, helping to organize local TAB groups and transporting many local pre-teenagers to the 'Y' Drop-In run under a LIP grant last winter.

She has also supervised some of the programs set up for them. Perhaps you will remember her best at the Y's Treasure and Trivia sale last May in the Lions Hall on Centre Street.

She was the Raggedy Ann Doll bearing the sign "The rest of the dolls are upstairs," and leading the public to her toy headquarters in the mezzanine.

For weeks prior to that event Jane and I spent hours sorting, washing and fixing the generous donations of children's delights she had collected and stored.

Needless to say, the toy booth sale skyrocketed this year. (Thanks also to Ev Reynolds, Lilian Sova and Janet Whelan, also from Richvale.)

June is at present serving on the new regional committee for the Richmond Hill and District Family 'Y' and is treasurer of the 1st Langstaff Ladies Auxiliary.

Library display
On display at the main branch of the Richmond Hill Public Libraries, Wright Street, at present are weaving and candles, made by Pat McLeod and June Qua at 21 and 27 Claridge Avenue. They have formed Vale Ridge Crafts which they operate from their homes.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning June at 889-6510. The display will be on view for all of this month.

June is also enquiring about a kiln. If there is one in Richvale, would the owner please contact June at the above number.

People are still asking me if I know of a home for stray or sick cats advertised in Richvale some months ago. Could there be one somewhere that I've not heard about?

Church news
A most rewarding attendance of local citizens of all denominations was at the Ecumenical Rice Bowl in Richmond Hill United Church, Yonge and Centre Streets December 3. Featured were Artist William Kurelek with several of his paintings and a singsong with Rev. Bruce McLeod at the piano.

Fran Wachna of Roseview helped organize the event.

The proceeds went to the World Relief Fund. Incidentally, from the success of the Novemberfest held at St. Mary Immaculate Roman Catholic Church recently, a cheque for $100 was presented by the parish council to share in world relief at this ecumenical supper.

Social events
The staff of Falconbridge Nickle Mines Research Laboratories celebrated their annual Christmas dinner and dance at Thornhill Country Club. Theatre

The third travelogue sponsored by Richmond Hill Rotary Club this season will be shown December 15 in Bayview Secondary School auditorium at 8 pm sharp. Romain Wilkinson will present "Bolivian Adventure".

Frank Bescoe re-elected RC board in King

King Township Roman Catholic Separate School supporters have returned Frank Bescoe of Schomberg to the York Region Roman Catholic Separate School Board for his second term.

The second King trustee for the next two years will be Jim Wigglesworth of Pottageville.

Bescoe polled 219 votes and Wigglesworth 195. Incumbent Gus Clarke of Schomberg had 151 votes and Elio Bellon 125.

John Raniowski of Lloydton received an acclamation to the York County Board of Education representing separate school supporters.

News from next door

AURORA: The Salvation Army has received the provincial green light to set up an 11-bed alcoholic treatment and rehabilitation centre in York Region. It will probably be located on Army property in Aurora, and will be expanded as the need increases.
