

Jewelry, money stolen

An afternoon break-in at a Richmond Hill home, proved profitable for thieves last week.

According to York Regional Police, the home of Ruby Boyle, 39 Centre Street West, was entered between 1 and 3 pm December 4.

A locked safe in a closet was opened and two diamond rings, valued at $1,600, some coins and an antique pearl sunburst pin, plus $400 cash were taken.

At Richmond Hill High School, 51 Wright Street, a break-in there last week resulted in five typewriters being damaged beyond repair.

Damage amounted to $1,700.

Richmond Inn, 10097 Yonge Street, reported a color TV had been taken in a break-in.

Also taken were the contents of a pinball and a shuffle board machine.

Houdini must have had a hand in the theft of a mink coat at Fairweather Limited in Hillcrest Mall.

Police said the three-quarter length coat was taken from a rack, even though chained to it, sometime between November 30 and December 2.

Value of the coat was $700.

Three homes under construction on Kings Inn Trail in Markham, were visited by vandals last week, resulting in a total of $350 damage.

Windows were broken and wiring and insulation ripped out.

Two IGA stores, one in Woodbridge and the other in King City, were relieved of a total of 286 cartons of cigarettes, and some cash in break-ins, December 5 and 6.

Loss at the Woodbridge store totalled $2,275, while the other store reported a loss of $700.

There was something fishy about the robbery at the Aurora Community Centre.

Police said thieves got $170 in cash by dropping a fishing line and hook down through a chute to the vault and hauling out several bags of cash.

Four cars in an underground garage at 80 Inverloch Boulevard in Thornhill, were broken into last week, and a quantity of tapes and other articles were taken.

Hans Ulfsrud, 56, of 16 Keele Street North, Maple, was found dead in his room, December 7.

Police said he had been there for two days. Death was attributed to either a heart attack, or carbon monoxide poisoning, due to a possibly faulty stove in the room.

Pollock wants family life centres kept
If the provincial government says no to helping finance family life centres, it will probably be the responsibility of the region to keep the centres on, Councillor Robert Pollock of Georgina Township told a meeting of York Regional Council.
Pollock made his remarks following the regular meeting after Councillor Gordon Rowe of Richmond Hill, said some clarification of the financing of the centres was required.
"We need some assurance," Rowe said.
Met Brunelle
Two weeks ago, Mayor William Lazenby of Richmond Hill, who is chairman of the health and social services committee, announced he met with Rene Brunelle, minister of community and social services, and got an extension of services to the end of the year.
The government also agreed to pay half the costs involved, he said. This would allow those which were in financial trouble to pay their debts and then "withdraw gracefully" from further operations.
Councillor Pollock said the region should continue its efforts to get a "statement of policy" from the government, as to any further financing of the centres.

Gwillimbury's Rolling back

Gladys Rolling
Re-elected mayor
The December 2 election brought two changes to East Gwillimbury Township council.

Mayor Gladys Rolling was returned to office by acclamation.
In the voting which brought out 35 percent of those eligible, Angus Morton topped the polls.

Alvin Pegg was next, Clare Salisbury third and Mrs. Jean LaChappelle fourth in a field of eight candidates contesting the four seats. Morton and Salisbury are incumbents, and Pegg and LaChappelle are the newcomers to council.
Defeated candidates were Stewart Blizzard, Robert Featherstonhaugh, Russell Morrison and Stan Hatch.

Burrows mayor in Georgina

Dr. George Burrows has been elected mayor of Georgina Township, regaining the seat he lost to Joe Dales in 1972.
Present Regional Councillor Robert Pollock ran third. This was the third contest between Burrows and Dales. Burrows won in 1971 civic elections but lost in 1972.

Erik Larsen, at present the Ward 3 councillor, will be the township's new regional councillor, defeating Wallace Donnell for that position.

Bruce Welch and Howard Schillington won the two Ward 1 seats with Howard Smith and Karol Grant being defeated. Incumbent Dave Davidson was returned in Ward 2, defeating Sylvia Brown and Fred Howlett. Gary Sedore won the Ward 3 seat, defeating Eddie Smyth.

Incumbent Jean Noble, in Ward 4, had a wide margin over challenger Ronald Stewart and in Ward 5 incumbent Ken Smokum held the seat over Terrance McGrail.
Incumbent Ward 6 Councillor John Hastings received the only acclamation in the municipality.
The percentage of voters casting ballots was only 33.
