Guides to move into community

"Buy a button" is the hope of all Cadets, Rangers, Guides and Brownies of York South Division. The buttons are colorfully designed in orange and white and are heralding the "Guiding on the Move" program for 1975.

This program is designed to encourage all units of girls and leaders to move into their community for learning and service experiences. It will assist older girls to enjoy the enriching experience of travel to different parts of Canada. The buttons, which can be purchased from anyone in the association, are just 25 cents each.

Brown Owl Audrey Hilton reports a most successful winter program held by 1st Richvale Brownie Pack. In March a father and daughter sleigh ride was held at the Hayloft, following which the participants enjoyed hot dogs, hot chocolate and toasted marshmallows over a roaring bonfire.

On March 17 the following badges were presented: cook, Tracy Daoust, Jennifer Hilton, Sandra Hooper, Michelle Padley, Alison Saben, Jodi Walker, Angela Hunter and Sarah Orseni; woodworker, Heather Leyman; writer, Deborah Cross; Golden Bar, Sarah Robinson and Kim Cichettek. Following the presentations, the girls enjoyed an evening of games and songs.

For the pack's international celebrations for Thinking Week the girls brought items from other countries to share and talk about. Posters were made by the older girls and Snowy Owl and some Brownies who came from other countries put on demonstrations. On April 14 Mrs. Hunter, a local artist displayed some art techniques to the girls. Brown Owl is planning a spring outing to a provincial park for the pack.

Cadet Captain Betty O'Rourke reported a most successful eight-day craft and folklore session held at Girl Guide Cabana in Mexico. Eighty leaders from the United States, England, El Salvador and Canada exchanged news and ideas, and participated in a service project of crafts and games for 625 children in Guernavaca. Joan O'Rourke of the 2nd Central Cadet Company accompanied her mother and took part in the Mexican program.

Ranger Leaders held a sharing session in Oshawa April 2, led by Ranger Captain Gail Thompson. On May 10, Brownies and Guides of Richmond Hill West will be manning a booth at Richmond Hill Agricultural Fair. Crafts and baked goods will be sold and the public's support is requested.

Lots of goodies

Crowds came from a wide area to patronize the annual Headford UCV bazaar at Victoria Square Community Hall. Not the least of the many attractions of the event was "The Pocket Lady" and the many good things to eat.

Other departments also did an excellent afternoon of business. Looking for a place to put more delicacies are Marilyn Rumble (left) and Jean Rumble, both from RR 2, Gormley.

Classic Communications hit

Electrical equipment worth over $11,000 was stolen from a Richmond Hill firm last weekend. Thieves broke into Classic Communications Ltd.,

Newkirk Road, and escaped with 120 television converters, a TV set and an electric calculator.

Police foil hacksaw escape attempt at court

Two prisoners attempting to escape from the Newmarket courthouse were foiled when detectives burst into their cell. The police claim they received information about the escape bid. Detectives stalked out the cell area and heard sawing. They found one bar had been cut three times and the two prisoners, police said, were three quarters of the way through the metal. Charged with attempting to escape from police custody are Peter Monahan, 28 and Lee Parson, 19, both of Amherstburg. Monahan is already facing 2 charges of armed robbery from last August 16, together with abduction and theft. Parson is charged with possession of stolen property regarding another incident.
