

Holidays start sooner. When you start with us.

Joan Fielden, Dominion's Home Economist Consultant

"Barbecues. The word has many meanings. Like food cooked over an open fire, over coals, in a pit, on a spit or in front of a fire. But for most of us, a barbecue simply means an enjoyable outdoor get together with the family or friends. Everyone eagerly waiting for the steaks, hamburgers or hot dogs to be given that final turn to doneness. And the table set with potato chips, potato salad, mustard, relish and all your other favourite fixings that make a barbecue a delicious, meaty family affair, especially during holiday time. You can make your barbecue meats tastier, more moist and more flavourful by marinating or brushing them with a sauce during cooking. So try the following barbecue sauce. It's easy to make and will give your meat that added barbecue flavour."

Easy to Make Barbecue Sauce

- 1 cup tomato juice
- 1 cup consommé
- 1 tablespoon meat sauce
- tarragon
- cloves
- 1 tablespoon freshly ground pepper
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons onion juice
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 clove garlic, grated
- 1/2 cup sherry
- parsley

1. Heat tomato juice, consommé and meat sauce with a sprig of tarragon, a sprig of thyme and two or three whole cloves.
2. Just before boiling, add other seasonings. Then add sherry and allow sauce to heat for a minute or two longer before serving.
