Can-Save needs housewife, senior volunteers

Correspondent Mary Watts 889-5787

The Canadian Save the Children's Fund is an international organization, which for more than 50 years has been serving the needs of Canadians and people overseas in their struggles for education, food, medical help and future self-reliance.

Servicing stories in this southern part of Richmond Hill is now a primary concern, so be you either a homemaker or a retired person, especially a senior citizen, your help, if only for a half day a month, would be greatly appreciated.

Volunteers are the backbone of this charitable organization.

For a job description, please contact Mrs. Daisy McGregor at 884-6202.

Spring Fair

Congratulations to the many successful students of this area who received awards at the annual Richmond Hill Agricultural Fair May 10, 11 and 12.

From Charles Howitt School, for poetry in grades 1 and 2, Leslie Cohen and Tracy Rudyk.

In the writing competitions in grade 1, Stephen Atkinson and Jennifer Gentle and in Grade 2 Patricia D'Agostenalli, Hanna Springer and Jennifer Ure.

From St. Mary Immaculate Separate School students in this area winning awards were:

For grades 7 and 8 in art, Karen DeHaas and Robbie McKinley and in poetry Karen DeHaas and Brian Watts received honorable mention.

Brian tied with Robin Martin from Jefferson Public School in obtaining the most points for school handicrafts and cooking exhibits for which he obtained five ribbons.

At the opening ceremonies Saturday afternoon, they were both presented with the Essol Clark Memorial Trophy for achievement, along with individual trophies.

Richvale Record

Brian accepted the trophy for St. Mary's from May to November as he will be leaving to attend high school in September.

For the remainder of the school year, it will go to Jefferson.

This trophy was presented for the first time last year, after the sudden death of Mrs. Essol Clark, who had for many years worked tirelessly and cheerfully in charge of school exhibits.

To commemorate her involvement with all the school children of Richmond Hill, her family decided to make this award.

Last year the winner was Wendy Johnson of Pleasantville Public School.

About 60 grade 7 and 8 students of St. Mary Immaculate, accompanied by teachers and a few parents, will embark next Monday on the Canadian National student tour of Quebec City and Ottawa, stopping off for a few hours in Montreal.

They will travel on the Turbo Express as well as the regular train — both experiences new to some of the students who have spent most of their young lives on buses to and from school or in the family car.

They will return about midnight May 29.

A group of grade 8 students from Roselawn Senior Public plan to visit Ottawa June 4-7.

Some money for this trip was raised by a walkathon last October.

Sympathy of the community is again extended to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parker of 64 Spruce Street, who have returned from Hanover where they spent the past week and attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Jean Parker.

The Parkers are most appreciative of the many kindnesses shown them by their neighbors during their several bereavements recently.

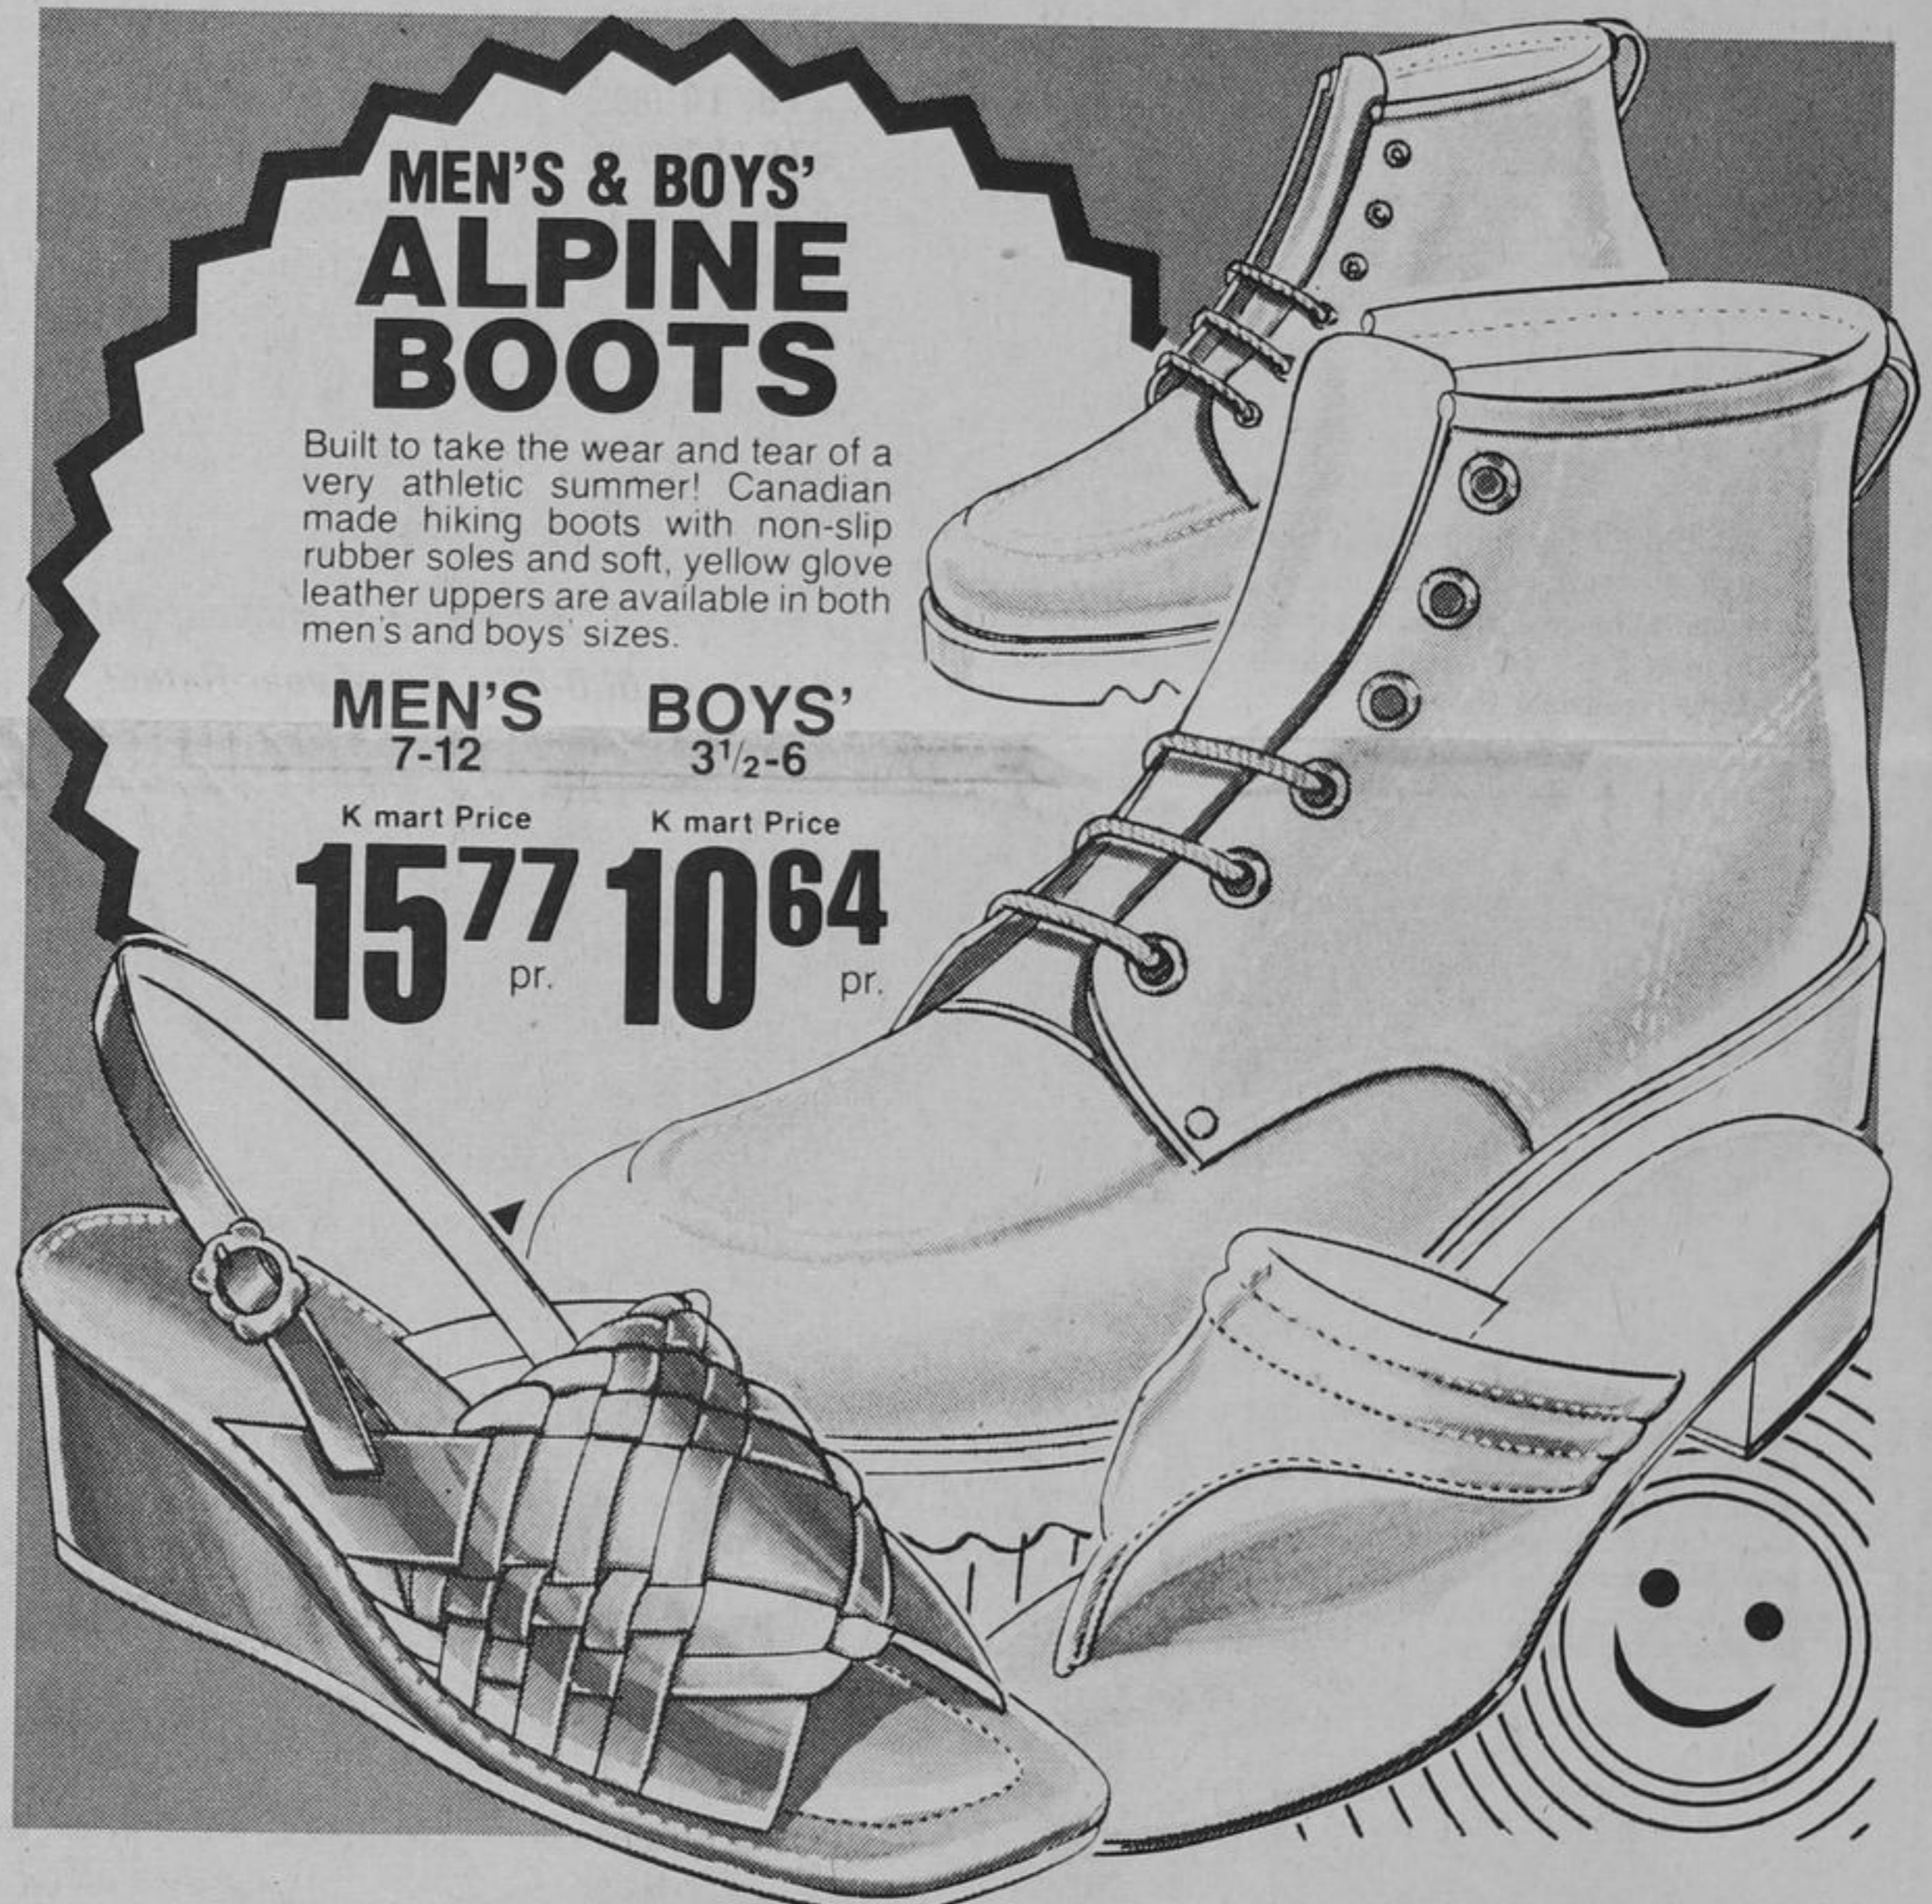

Reminders

Wednesday of next week, take your pre-schooler to a film program starting at 10:30 am, featuring three special movies, at your public library on Pearson Avenue.
