

Carnival clowns for muscular dystrophy

Eight youngsters raised $65.67 for muscular dystrophy, and more has been pledged as a result of a carnival held Saturday at the home of Lois Davies, North Taylor Mills Drive. They had games, prizes, a rummage sale, lottery, puppet show, magician, and rummage sale. Helpers were Danny Tarkington,

Duplicate bridge

What are you going to be doing on all those cold, dark evenings this fall? Playing bridge, of course! Your local duplicate bridge club is waiting for new members.

It offers three sessions a week (Mondays and Fridays at 8 p.m. and Wednesdays at 1 p.m.) as well as a special section for new and inexperienced players on Monday evening.

For just $1 (non-members $1.50), one is entitled to a congenial evening of bridge as well as the privilege of buying a 10 cent cup of coffee. Where can you get a better deal these days? The club is located at 12 King Side Road, Oak Ridges. Bridge lessons are available.

For partners and information, call Natalie Platner 884-1689 or Marie Cole 773-4280.

York potters

York Potters' Guild, which now has two studios in the region, starts a new season at 8 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) with a general meeting at the Aurora studio, 107 Yonge Street South, Aurora.

For potters in the southern part of the region, a new and permanent studio has been set up in the Burr House on Carrville Road.

At an executive meeting August 28 preparation got under way for the fall and winter program.

Plans are coming along for a bazaar Nov. 2 at Hillcrest Mall in Richmond Hill.

For those wishing to learn the art of pottery, fall class registrations are now being taken. There will be two courses of 10 weekly classes, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., beginning Sept. 29, and from 9 a.m. to noon beginning Oct. 2.

For information about memberships and classes contact Barb Elend, 68 Hill Drive, Aurora, 727-6117.

For information about the Richmond Hill studio call Joyce Jay, 884-5834, or Emily Bowman, 884-5705.

A registration evening will be held on Sept. 15 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Aurora Studio.

Meanwhile, prospective members are invited to attend the meeting tonight.

Dawn Barrett

Seneca grad

Dawn Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Barrett, Pearson Avenue, Richvale, graduated August 16 from the Seneca College School of Nursing.

Dawn moved with her family from Niagara Falls in 1972 and attended Langstaff Secondary School before entering the school of nursing.

Local landmark

If you plan to be in Italy this month, and Bari is on your itinerary, you may catch a glimpse of a local landmark.

Ontario's award-winning film, A Place to Stand, will be the major attraction at the Ontario Pavilion at the Fiera del Levante in Bari from September 12 to 22.

Featured in the film is the David Dunlap Observatory, one of Richmond Hill's major claims to fame.

This is the second year Ontario has participated in the Bari Fair which annually attracts more than three million people during its 10-day run.

Christian Women's Club

Some 215 women attended the recent meeting of the York North Christian Women's Club Coffee Wednesday morning at Aurora Highlands Golf Club.

The program began with an up-to-the-minute fashion show presented by Irene Hill, Ontario, Limited, of Upper Canada Mall with commentary by Pam Eves, fashion consultant for the mall.

Background music was played by Janice Carser of Aurora, and Ruth Coghill, also of Aurora, helped set the tone with her song, On A Clear Day.

To celebrate the first meeting of the new club, greetings were brought by Marion Havercroft, chairman of the Central Toronto Christian Women's Club, and Linda Faulkner, Chairman of the Windsor Christian Women's Club and a former resident of King City.

Both explained what the Christian Women's Club has meant to them and their families.

Bonnie Ashley, national representative for CWC from Kansas City, Missouri, headquarters welcomed the guests and presided at the meeting.

She is working in the area, establishing clubs in Owen Sound and Hanover as well as in York.

The tone of the meeting that followed was set by Ruth Coghill singing Because He Lives.

The speaker, Pat Clarke of Toronto, told of her search for meaning and fulfilment, finding it in committing her life to Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Clarke held her audience in rapt attention with her honest and humorous account of the effectiveness in her daily life of this new commitment.

Next event for the new club will be a prayer coffee at the home of Betty Carter, 82 Murray Drive, Golf Glen, Aurora, at 10 a.m. September 18.

The monthly coffee meeting will be at Aurora Highlands at 9:30 a.m. September 25.

Featured on the program will be a demonstration of fall arrangements by award winners Blanche White and Leta Oliver of the Aurora Horticultural Society.

Beryl Crichton, soprano, of Toronto, will be guest vocalist. Guest speaker will be Gladys Harting, wife of a Toronto advertising executive.

Free nursery care will be provided, but reservations for the nursery and coffee meeting must be made in advance by calling Ruth Coghill, 898-2945, Dorothy Kiernan of Aurora, 727-6834, or Lorena Savers of Oak Ridges, 773-5467.

There are no membership dues and all women in the Region of York are invited to attend any of the monthly meetings or prayer coffees.

Crafts to begin

Heritage Richmond Hill has announced the Burr House on Carrville Road will be used this fall for two craft programs.

The York Potters' Guild will be using one room and the Richmond Hill Family 'Y' will be using another for a craft program for children 10-11 years Saturday mornings for 20 weeks.

Because of the resignation of Janet Fayle as president, a new board of directors has been formed.

John LeClaire will be the new president and will be assisted by two vice-presidents, Leo Dobrzynski and Bev Carson.

Malcolm Jardine will be the secretary. Brian Cowen retains the office of treasurer, Don Hick continues in charge of membership and Alice Dewsbury as social convener.

Pat Hart and Bev Carson will be in charge of the Burr House program, Louise Case and Leo Dobrzynski are the program committee.

Don Hick is in charge of communications and Mary Dawson of publicity.

A profit of $800 was realized on the Cedar Shake Strawberry Social, it was reported.

Seneca flowers, threads

Communications skills, flower arranging, Worlds of Women, and creative threads are the four 10-week daytime courses being offered this fall at Richmond Hill Library under sponsorship of Seneca College's King Campus.

These programs are tied in with the college's policy of taking its services into the community. Courses are also being offered at the new Markham Library in the community complex at Bayview Avenue and John Street and, in Aurora, at Trinity Anglican Church.

For further information call Irma Melville, 884-9901 or, for readers to the north, 895-1581, local 237.

Helpmate needs volunteers

The first meeting for volunteers sponsored by Helpmate Information this fall will take place Sept. 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the Blue Flame Room at the Consumers' Gas Building, 500 Elgin Mills Road East.

Anyone interested in learning about Helpmate, and anyone interested in being a volunteer in any type of community work, is welcome.

For further information contact 883-2234. Susan Clements is the current director of HI.

St. Mary's Anglican

The Fellowship Group at St. Mary's Anglican is having a pot luck luncheon at 12 noon on Sept. 16, at the church, 10030 Yonge Street, entrance off Major Mackenzie Drive. All are welcome.

The junior choir will be starting weekly practice on Sept. 17 at 4 p.m. in the Chapel. All interested children from Grade 2 up are asked to call Mrs. Pauline Barrett, 884-1394.

It's that time of year again. St. Mary's ACW are getting ready for a busy fall and winter season, and to start have announced the date for their annual mammoth rummage sale.

Convenor Gayle Brillinger and her many helpers are busy preparing for the events to take place September 27 from 1 to 3 p.m. in Wrixon Hall at the rear of St. Mary's Anglican Church, Yonge Street and Markham Road.

Donations of good used clothing, books, records, toys and white elephants will be received at the hall on the two days prior to the sale. For more details call 884-6168 or 884-6665.

Fashion show

As one of its annual fund-raising projects, the Mary and Martha Guild of Richmond Hill Presbyterian is selling tickets for the big fall fashion show at Yorkdale September 12 at 8 p.m. For further information call June Campbell at 884-5689.

Trousseau tea

Glenda Waterson was guest of honor at a trousseau tea Sept. 1. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Waterson of King City, she was married September 6 to Paul Ranieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ranieri, Osiris Drive, in Our Lady Queen of the World Roman Catholic Church.

About 50 guests attended the tea. In charge of the tea table was the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Annette Ranieri.

Here from Manitoba

Mr. and Mrs. Bacil Blaine arrived Monday night from their home at Dauphin, Manitoba, to spend 10 days with their son Harold Blaine and family, Benson Ave.

Presbyterian WA

Richmond Hill Presbyterian WA met in the church hall Monday to make final plans for their rummage sale Sept. 20, 10 a.m. to noon.

Anyone with goods to donate for the sale is asked to get in touch with Meg McCrae, 884-3408, or Bessie McDonald, 884-6919.

Spices and herbs in Bible

Sixteen members were present for the September meeting of the Presbyterian WMS held Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. Margaret Styan.

The roll call was answered by each person telling how she had spent the summer months.

Mrs. Elsie MacKay spoke on spices and herbs mentioned in the Bible which are still in use in the present day, with her usual touches of humor.

Mrs. Mavis Cates read the scripture lesson and the treasurer's report and Miss Mabel Mackie read the minutes.

Plans were finalized for the Tri-Presbyterian Get Together which will be held in the local church September 29 from 2-5 p.m.

Delegates will be coming from the Presbyterials of Barrie, East and West Toronto.

The get-together will be followed at 7:15 p.m. by the fall rally of East Toronto Presbyterian.

Those attending are asked to bring a box supper with the local group providing tea and coffee.
