New jail farm view

The jail farm was once more in the news last week.

This time it was the Langstaff Community living just south of Highway 7 between Bayview and Yonge St., who are suggesting how this property be used.

The present government proposal is for installing the Parkway Belt along with Ontario Hydro transmission lines
through this Highway 7 community.

In order to avoid the problems and hardships this would involve for the people, as well as putting an extra 700 people out of work, the group is proposing the Parkway Belt and the Hydro lines be placed in the jail farm area.

There will be a meeting to discuss these matters with members of the ministry on Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Thornhill
Community Centre.

As Mike Donnell and Bob Little, at the Parkway Belt Information Caravan were quick to point out, the present plan is not final.

Election debate
The All-Candidates
Night at Thornlea High School was filled to capacity with interested electors.

There were also many there who themselves had been elected just a year ago, including Mayor Dave Schiller and Councillors John Birchall and Al Duffy.

Track and field
Kathy Wynne, coach of Richmond Hill's Track and Field Club mite-tyke-atom division (7-12 year olds) held a wonderful barbecue at her home on Centre St. W.

Kathy has unfortunately left us to take up journalism studies at Carleton University,
Ottawa.

It was a lovely gesture of Kathy's to give such a party, and typical of her ward 3

happy unflappable self.

We hope to see her next summer but in the meantime we all wish Kathy every success in her studies. Who knows, she may come back to The Liberal newspaper.

Well-maintained property always brings top dollar within a given price bracket.
Another way to secure and add on to your real estate investment is by making improvements, particularly the conversion of unused space into something attractive and utilitarian.
There is space within your home which can be converted into a playroom, guest room or into some other lively design for family living.
Just about any unused space will yield itself to ready adaption with a good plan.
This is important and if the hard part is getting the plan, then a visit to your local lumber dealer will pay off.
They will be able to show you a variety of plans which should cover most any situation.
