Due to the mail strike, invitations to the Lions Club annual New Years Eve party will be delayed. People who attended last year are asked to call Ken Kennedy at 832-1408.

This gala party, featuring the Pete Dymont Orchestra, includes dinner, dancing (some square dances too), and door prizes for the admission of $25 per couple.

BOOK TALK

For teen-agers

This week's choices include three exceptionally good books for those difficult-to-suit readers between about 13 and 16 years old. Library users of this age are no longer quite satisfied by juvenile fare, yet they need themes, characters and literary styles somewhat different from those usually found in adult novels.

Down a Dark Hall, by Lois Duncan

This suspenseful new novel by the author of I Know What You Did Last Summer tells the strange story of a perceptive girl who is enrolled in an exclusive, newly established boarding academy. Once there, she discovers that the mansion housing the school exudes an atmosphere of menace and evil. Every morning brings release from malignant, teasing attacks by unknown forces, and every terror-filled night threatens that no relieving dawn will ever arrive. (Fiction)

The Dollar Man, by Harry Mazur

A fat, despairing teen-ager lives with his divorced mother and keeps his self-respect barely alive with extravagant fantasies about himself and his absent parent. Finally, after a series of dangerous and disillusioning experiences with his drug-oriented classmates, he embarks on an angry, uncertain, pitiful search for his father which comes to a joyous, fulfilled and triumphant conclusion. (Fiction)

Song of the Shaggy Canary, by Phyllis Anderson Wood

The author of several novels for young people has this time written a classic love story — a sentimental, totally satisfying tale about a weary young girl and a wary young man who meet at night school and find that they can build a future together. (Fiction)

Sandition, by Jane Austen and Another Lady

Beginning with the fragment of a novel left by Jane Austen at her death and continuing to develop the plot and characters according to the clues contributed by Miss Austen, a well-known writer (who prefers to remain anonymous) has expanded and polished the unfinished manuscript into an elegant, romantic novel. The foibles, vanities and occasional gallantry of eighteenth century English society provide a felicitous background for the cleverness and charm of the eminently Austian heroine. (Fiction)

Kidnapped, by Karl and Debbie Dortzbach

In May 1974 a pregnant missionary nurse was kidnapped by the Eritrean Liberation Front. Here is a factual account of her harrowing captivity and its inspiring aftermath. (Non-fiction)

OXFAM

HARVEST

Go without food on Thursday, November 20.

The most important event on Earth each year is the harvest; but one-eighth of mankind suffering from severe malnutrition is not celebrating...

HOW CAN YOU HELP?

How do we solve the World Food Crisis? Even if North Americans wanted to do so, we could not feed all of the 460 million malnourished people in the world. Their only hope lies with the one billion small farmers in their own developing nations. YOU can help them to meet this challenge by supporting OXFAM's rural self-help development projects in more than 20 nations. Go without food for one day on November 20. Send the money you would have spent on food (or whatever you can afford) to OXFAM, Box 18,000, Station "A", Toronto. DURING THE MAIL DISRUPTION DONATIONS MAY BE MADE TO OXFAM AT ANY BRANCH OF THE ROYAL BANK IN ONTARIO. All donations to OXFAM are tax deductible and will be receipted promptly. (Reg. No. 0221135-03-10)

It is by invitation only. However, those who wish to attend and have not been present in the past, are invited to call Mr. Kennedy, and their names will be put on a waiting list in case of a cancellation.

Win a turkey

A traditional event, sponsored by the Maple Lions Club, is its annual "Turkey Shoot". This year it will be held on Saturday, Dec. 6. Starting time is 12:30 p.m. at Shur Gain Farms on Major Mackenzie Drive.

Lions members will be displaying the Turkey Shoot cards during the next few weeks. Chances may be purchased from members and you need not be present to win a 12 to 14 pound turkey.

Twelve-gauge shotguns without chokes are to be used.

What better way to supply the family with Christmas dinner?

Cancer Society active

The Maple branch of the Canadian Cancer Society met on Thursday, Nov. 6. This branch gets together five times a year to report on the services rendered to the community and discuss the best ways in which to carry out these services.

Besides campaigning for Canadian Cancer Society funds, the Maple Branch provides other services for Town of Vaughan residents.

Educational pamphlets regarding different aspects of cancer are distributed to stores, offices, factories, and libraries in the area. Various films are available to the community and can be obtained by contacting the education chairman, Heather Elson at 832-2641.

Local physicians may refer cancer patients to the Service-to-Patients chairman, Marjorie Brock at 832-1224, who, with the permission of the medical advisor, visits these people to ascertain which of their needs can be fulfilled by the Maple Branch.

Transportation is provided by volunteer drivers, for patients requiring treatment at Princess Margaret Hospital. Transportation convener is Muriel Rose at 832-1443.

If anyone wishes to make a donation to the Maple Branch of the Canadian Cancer Society, please call the commemoration convener, Patsy Maclachen at 832-1560.

A 'thank you'

The Maple chapter of the Arthritis Society wishes to thank the following youngsters for helping to deliver flyers for the secondhand sporting goods sale: Mike and Laura Jones, Paul, Kerry and Laura Wilson, Tom Studdy, Kim Taylor, Leslie Shields, Beverly Bedford, Cindy Jane Cook, Mark and Michele Fortin, Julie Lowthian, Tera Mummy and Lauri West.

Without their help, the postal strike would have cut down on extensive advertising.

Don't forget! The sale is Saturday, Nov. 22 at St. Stephen's. Since we are all trying to follow Mr. T's guidelines, I know everyone will turn out to get that bargain in sporting equipment they've been looking for!
