

BOOK TALK

by Margaret Carrington
A librarian looks at new Markham Library books

Like to listen, too

We like to listen as well as talk. Anytime you read a book that you have a strong reaction to, we'd be pleased if you would come in and tell us about it. We're very interested in your opinions.

No Better Than I Should Be, by James L. Dow
A minister of the Church of Scotland, well-known broadcaster, television performer, journalist, novelist, scholar, amateur actor and wit here tells the engrossing story of his boyhood in Paisley at the beginning of the 20th century, his training for the ministry, and his entertaining experiences as an adult. His account is delightfully enlivened by many tales told out of church about parishioners, church officials and fellow ministers. (Non-fiction)

The Last Stand of Father Felix, by Leonard Wibberley

Whether writing for children or adults, satirist (The Mouse That Roared) Wibberley's plotting and characterization are always far above average. His latest novel relates the adventures of an 80-year-old priest who makes the decision to hold his African mission (with the help of a few unlikely allies) against an all-out military assault by a fanatical sect of Bantus. (Fiction)

The Bjorn Borg Story, by Bjorn Borg
The sexy Swedish teenager whose dazzling career in tennis has captured world-wide attention here gives a full account of his life. He candidly discusses his faults and failures, his court strategy, his competitors, his fans and his personal affairs. The many photographs include an irresistible one of the future star when he was six months old. (Non-fiction)

One Way Street, by Marian Engel
This later novel by the Toronto-born author of The Honeyman Festival develops a series of inventive and penetrating variations on the themes of marriage, divorce, suicide, misalliance and alienation. The setting is a sultry island in the Mediterranean. (Fiction)

How to Talk with Practically Anybody about Practically Anything, by Barbara Walters

The female star of television's Today program reveals her secrets for remaining at ease with tycoons, celebrities, clergymen, the bereaved, new dates and other potentially embarrassing society. She offers, as well, tips on giving parties, public speaking and good grooming, and relates a rich collection of anecdotes about the VIPs she has interviewed. The book concludes with a list of 20 sure-fire conversation starters. (Non-fiction)

CONCORD — As The Liberal's new correspondent for the Concord area, I would like first to express my thanks to those people I spoke to and who were especially helpful in providing me with information about the Community Centre.

A special thanks to Carol McGinis who supplied data on organizations and persons to contact.

Many activities

The Concord Centre is a great boon to the community since it is the only recreational facility of its kind. There are many activities there on various nights of the week, so be sure to get out and take advantage of them and meet your neighbors too.

The library, although small as yet, offers a great deal. It has a selection of films, periodicals, current paperbacks, French books, junior books and a very extensive collection of paperback novels in Italian. It is hoped more people will be using this unique section. The library will be showing children's movies once or twice a month.

The first one will be shown Feb. 21 at noon.

They have not yet decided on which film is to be shown but I will keep you posted.

At present, library hours are limited to Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 7 to 9 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., but as more people begin to take advantage of the library facilities, hours may be extended.

Incidentally, any book donations will be gratefully received, particularly children's books and adult detective and mystery books.

Arts and crafts

The first arts and crafts class, under the direction of Lillian Smith, began Jan. 21 and will be held weekly for a period of 10 weeks.

Mrs. Smith has been working very hard for several months to set up classes in art, macramé, and sewing, and her efforts came to fruition with the commencement of these classes last Wednesday evening.

The splendid attendance in all classes was very encouraging.

Mrs. Smith hopes to set up classes in other disciplines if there is sufficient public interest.

Anyone interested in such classes should contact Mrs. Smith at 669-2011.

Children's craft classes are also in progress and again, if you are interested, please call Mrs. Smith.

Euchre evening

The first euchre of the New Year was held Jan. 13, but due to a bad snowstorm, attendance was poor and only four tables of players were on hand.

Warren Bone and Irma McCutcheon were the high score winners; Mr. and Mrs. Art Godfrey, the low score winners.

Otto Freeland would like to express his thanks to Molly Godfrey, Pat Kemp and Norma Hewitt for making up sandwiches for the affair.

Euchres will be held once a month from now on, and everyone is welcome.

Newsletter

Every Concord resident should be receiving a monthly newsletter from the Community Centre.

They are prepared by Julie Seeman who then passes them on to street captains who assume the responsibility of distribution.

They are hand-delivered in most cases and should appear during the first or second week of each month.

If you are not receiving this newsletter and would like to be on the mailing list, please call Julie Seeman at 669-2790.

Recommend park rink

At a meeting Thursday, Maple Area Recreation Committee passed a motion to put in the outdoor rink in the park this winter.

Many local residents are very keen on having this facility in addition to the indoor arena rink.

The M.A.R.C. decision will be subject to approval by the recreation and parks committee.

At that same meeting, the M.A.R.C. committee held its annual elections for the executive for 1976-77.

Members stayed the same with the exception of the addition of Penny Strigley.

Birth announcement

Jack and Debra Kok (nee Cook), announce the arrival of their first child, Jacqueline Grace, on Jan. 9.

Congratulations to the new parents (Debby certainly had plenty of experience with babies during the time she babysat for many of us!) and to the proud grandparents, Hugh and Jackie Cook.

4-H club meets

Girls between the ages of 12 and 26 who are interested in joining the homemaking portion of the 4-H Club, please contact Anne Ella at 832-1568 for information.

The next meeting will be at Anne's home during mid-February.

Please see next week's column for a detailed writeup on this very interesting organization.

Seniors have busy schedule

Jan. 28, at 1:30 p.m., the seniors of the Woodbridge Club are to host the Town of Vaughan Cabinet of Senior Citizens, with representatives from each Vaughan club on hand.

The meeting will be held in the Woodbridge Auditorium (Arena) and is open to any senior citizens. Indeed, visitors are made most welcome.

A few seats still are being held for senior citizens on several trips to Florida, including a 21-day circle tour, 21 days to Clearwater, and 30 days to St. Petersburg.

Information can be obtained from Louise Cooper at 832-2408.
