

BOOK TALK

by Margaret Carrington
A librarian looks at new Markham Library books

Popular topics

Two of these five new books deal with the especially popular topics of sports and entertainment.

The World I Lived In, by George Jessel
In this autobiography the energetic, irrepressible little showman who rose from the slums of New York to achieve fame in journalism and the entertainment world tells the entire, clearly remembered truth about his three marriages, his multiple affairs (including one with the Happy Hooker), and his often surprising experiences with presidents, royalty, other stars, and newspapermen. He writes with obvious relish and no embarrassment at all. (Non-fiction)

Checkmate, by Dorothy Dunnett
This is the sixth and final novel in the "Lymond" series. In Checkmate Francis Crawford pursues his devil-may-care, martial career in France, where he is serving the king reluctantly but with brilliant success on the battlefield. At the same time he ardently dedicates himself to a compelling private ambition and finds himself living out a bizarre prophecy concerning his personal life. This long, event-filled book will provide a satisfying climax for the many readers who have awaited each volume in the series with impatience. (Fiction)

The Methods of the Golf Masters, by Dick Aultman and Ken Bowden
Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and 12 other acknowledged experts explain in detail the physical, emotional and mental techniques which have brought them one championship after another. The many sequential photographs of golf strokes and the close-ups of different grips on the clubs make their advice easy to understand. Putting (pun) it into practice may be something else again. (Non-fiction)

The Bourlotas Fortune, by Nicholas Gage
The author, a journalist, novelist and world traveller, spent many months in research during the writing of this detailed but never digressive novel about the life of a Greek shipping magnate. He follows the career of his shrewd, earthy hero from his boyhood on a poverty stricken, Aegean island to his lusty prime — when his exploits as a lover, husband, father and financial manipulator prove tragically that a man may be the captain of his soul without being the master of his fate. (Fiction)

The Complete Jack the Ripper, By Donald Rumbelow
Donald Rumbelow, as a member of London's city police force, has had unlimited access to official, contemporary files. In this book he sifts through the original evidence with a cop's eye, ignoring the later additions of a sensationalist press, and he presents the conclusions he has arrived at after studying the cases against the five leading suspects. (Non-fiction)

Vaughan Day plans shaping up

Vaughan Day publications. Three local artists will judge logo contest entries.

Trophies offered
Mrs. Kemp told The Liberal offers of support have been received from numerous individuals and organizations.

Colorful
The event will be colorful, with "lots of fun and friendly rivalry among the five villages of Vaughan," says publicity co-ordinator Pat Kemp.

Participants will wear village colors — Thornhill's red and white, Concord's black and gold, the green and gold combination symbolic of Woodbridge, Maple's blue and white and Kleinburg's orange and blue.

Vaughan school students will be competing in poster and logo competitions, Mrs. Kemp says.

The poster competition is open to pupils in Grades 1 to 6, and the logo contest is for Grades 7 and 8 students.

There will be prizes for the top three posters, and these posters will be displayed during Vaughan Day.

Designers of the top three logos will be awarded prizes, and the winning design will be used on tee-shirts and all

Syrup, showmanship at Maple festival

maple news

Woodbridge Legion, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, has offered to present a trophy commemorating the anniversary and Vaughan Day's first celebration.

Woodbridge Lions Club, organizers of the soapbox derby, will present a trophy to the winner of that event.

Labatt's breweries has announced they will provide 22 trophies.

"There are many other areas where clubs and businesses can contribute to the success of Vaughan's special day," Mrs. Kemp says.

Groups wishing to assist are asked to contact Dave Truman at 669-1625 or 669-1827.

MAPLE — Maple Lions Club's sixth annual Maple Sugar and Pancake Festival will be this Saturday from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at Maple Arena. For the children, there will be amusements and pony rides, a fish pond, games and prizes, and puppet shows at 10 a.m., 11, and noon, presented by Toytown Theatre.

The Watt family will perform, accompanied by their steel drum group.

At 11:45 a.m., members of Bill Cole's Descenders Parateam will be (literally) dropping into the festival.

The complete sap-to-syrup process, showing pioneer as well as modern methods, will be shown at the sugar bush.

Bus tours leave the arena every half hour.

Maple sugar products, crafts, antiques and home baked goodies (while they last) will be sold.

Of course, the Maple Lions will serve pancakes and sausages from their ever-expanding conveyer belt system.

Plan to attend with the entire family for this fun-filled day.

Solution proposed

Although still subject to approval by the York County Board of Education, it appears Grade 6 students will be staying at Joseph A. Gibson School instead of transferring to George Bailey.

At a recent meeting of parents and teachers, unanimous approval was given to the change.

Acute shortage of space and classroom facilities at Bailey indicate some of the unused space at Gibson could provide a solution to overcrowding of Grades 6, 7 and 8 classes.
