Liverpool visitor

RICHMOND HILL — Mrs. Lily Jarvis of Liverpool has been a frequent visitor at the home of her niece, Mrs. Mavis Cates of Markham Rd., over the past month.

She has accompanied her niece and family to the Dunlap Observatory, McMichael Collection in Kleinburg and Black Creek Pioneer Village and was a guest at the recent WMS luncheon at Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Jarvis also helped Mrs. Cates and her husband, Norman, celebrate their 18th anniversary May 17 and shared in the birthday celebrations of three of their children.

It is four years since her last visit to Canada, and much of her time has been spent with her sister, Mrs. Cates mother, Mrs. Edith Houghton, in Willowdale. She returns to Liverpool May 23.

Campers and hikers

Twenty members of the Busy Bees, the Richmond Hill chapter of the National Campers and Hikers' Association, attended their annual dinner meeting which began with wine and canapes at the Eric Georges' home on North Taylor Mills.

The group then drove to Kelnburg for dinner at the Doctor's House where the Pit had reserved for them.

The evening ended with cards and coffee at the Gordon Higgs' home in King Township.

English visitors at WMS

RICHMOND HILL — Life in a small English village today was described by Mrs. Madge Benson of Roecliffe, Yorkshire, at last week's Wednesday meeting of the Presbyterian WMS.

Roecliffe is a village of 130 people surrounded by an agricultural community, all very interested in the beautiful treed village green, she said. Everyone helps each other and it is a very happy community.

The lime, horse chestnut and sycamore trees which line the green were planted 75 years ago by Henry Wilson, who still lives in the village, although he suffered a coronary about a month ago. The trees were paid for by the local church.

Evidence the trees were getting old was apparent a few years ago and the whole village undertook to raise enough money through barbecues, dances and comino drives, etc. to provide the necessary treatment to ensure they would remain healthy.

Earlier this year the committee held a cheese and wine party which raised 72 pounds to ensure continued care.

The Women's Institute has planted hundreds of daffodils around the trees and at the approaches of the village to add to its natural beauty.

The meeting began with a delicious pot luck luncheon, after which Gladys Savage read the Bible Lesson and Mable Mackie led in prayer.

President Margaret Stan introduced the guest speaker, who is her niece and welcomed a total of six guests, four of them from England.

ACW visit police

RICHMOND HILL — St. Gabriel's Anglican Church Women enjoyed a tour of the new York Regional Police divisional headquarters building on Major Mackenzie Dr. on April 28.

Staff Sergeant Gordon Bacon served as their guide, pointing out some of the highlights — the lecture room, stolen articles room, exercise room, finger printing department, as well as the women's cell area and the men's cell area.

The division has 125 members on force, covering a 110 mile territory.

The ladies were impressed with the spaciousness and architecture of the building.

Coffee was served to ACW members in the church hall by Pat Crane prior to the tour.

Cape Cod Tour

Don Hick, 75 Dunlop Ave., is busy making arrangements for the special charter bus tour for seniors to New England and Cape Cod leaving the Hill July 19.

The seven-day trip will take travelers along the 401 past Kingston, across the St. Lawrence through the Lake Placid resort area and the Adirondacks and include a ferry cruise across Lake Champlain to Vermont.

Final steps before returning to the Hill will include famous spots in Boston and a visit to Albany. For details and reservations call Don Hick at 884-1736.

Sorority founders' day

Delta Lambda, along with other York Region chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, celebrated the sorority's Founders' Day at Thornhill Golf and Country Club April 29.

Guest speaker was Mrs. June Erwood of Gibson House in Willowdale who presented a program demonstrating similarities in fashions from the 1800's through to 1976. Models were from Gibson House, Sharon Temple and Mackenzie House.

Farewell to McElhinneys

Rev. Robert McElhinney, his wife, Dorothy, and family are leaving the pastorate at St. Paul's United Church, Oak Ridges, at the end of June.

In the six years they have been here, both Mr. and Mrs. McElhinney have been very active in the life of the community.

A farewell dinner in their honor is planned for sometime toward the end of June. Anyone interested in attending is asked to call Freda McQuarrie, 773-5316, or Helen Laign, 773-5493 before June 1.

The lively demonstrations presented by Consumers' Gas home service supervisor Sylvia Binkley ranges from the basics of barbecuing to roasting, skewer cooking, grill cooking and rotisserie cooking.

Using these techniques, Mrs. Binkley will show how to prepare such delectable dishes as barbecued roast beef, festival pork with apricot basting sauce, mock filet mignon, curried vegetables, fresh fruit kuchen and barbecued baked Alaska.

Both demonstrations begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Blue Flame Room, 500 Elgin Mills Rd. East.

Guys and dolls

RICHMOND HILL — Attractive, practical, versatile are some of the most appropriate adjectives for describing the many easy-care ensembles for every occasion displayed at two showings of Fashions For Guys and Dolls sponsored by Pleasantville Branch of York Central Hospital Auxiliary at the hospital.

Auxiliary members and doctors modelled the clothes with flair, and Winnie the Pooh came down from the pediatrics unit to help create the right atmosphere for Dr. Bernard Granton's presentation of smart slumber wear.

The fashions were from Patricia Bridal and Dress Salons, the male attire was from Appleton and Hughes, The Man Shop, both of Markham.

The York Highland Chapter of the Sweet Adelines entertained on the first night of the show, and the Thornhill Chapter of Spebsqsa's Sound Recollections were featured on the second evening.

Douglas Cox provided background music on the Cordovox for both shows. Commentator was Joyce Muller.

Seniors wind up bowling season

RICHMOND HILL — The Senior citizens' league bowling ended for the 1975-76 season with a banquet May 13 in Richmond Hill United Church auditorium.

The ladies of the church provided a delicious meal and the tables were pretty and springlike, thanks to Mrs. Bea Cook.

Trophies were presented to successful competitors by league chairman Jack Sheahan.

The Mayor Haggart trophy for top team went to the team captained by Mrs. May Hunt and including Arthur Mohun, Frank Martin, Pauline Price, and Ben John.

The Vic Rogers Memorial Trophy for Jack Sheahan for captain's high triple was won by Frank Price. The trophy for ladies' high triple went to Mrs. Vi Woods.

Winner of the Mr. Plewman Trophy for most improved bowler was won by Mrs. E. Johnston.

Two special awards were given by Jack Sheahan to Mrs. Dorothy Low, "a lousy bowler, but a real good sport", and to league mascot, popular young whippersnapper Jimmy Tinkler who will be 96 on Nov. 1 and has a flat average of 140.

Jimmy replied by singing "I Wouldn't Leave my Little Wooden Hut for You".

In extending thanks to Memorial Trophy for Jack Sheahan for capturing the ship through the past season, one league member commented people who have never run a seniors' league have no idea of the amount of work entailed or squawls encountered, adding "Our sincere sympathy goes to Stuart McPherson who has agreed to serve as chairman for the 1976-77 season." Entertainment began with Miss Maria Petrowanczuk singing several selections. Other vocalists were Mrs. Kay Atkins, Mrs. Rose Woods, Mrs. Emma Masters and Artie Smith.

Blossoms and historic sites

RICHMOND HILL — The Elmwood Over Sixties Club joined Maple Seniors on May 11 for a trip to see the blossoms in the Niagara fruit growing district.

At Niagara-on-the-Lake the group visited St. Andrew's Church which had its first meeting in 1792. The church built in 1794 was destroyed by fire in 1813 and rebuilt in 1831.

They also saw the oldest general store in Upper Canada — W. M. McClelland, 1815 — also the oldest apothecary (drug store) in Upper Canada.

The busload of seniors enjoyed a smorgasbord at the Pillar And Post and visited its large handicrafts store.

From there it was on to Old Fort George, then to Niagara Falls Park where the spring flowers and shrubs were in full bloom.

They visited the conservatories with their supper at the Casablanca. It was a wonderful day and the Over Sixties extend thanks to Maple Seniors' tour organizer Louise Cooper, to Travelways' Don Mitchell for his interesting commentaries and safe driving, and to their own Jack Sheahan for arranging such an enjoyable trip.
