Sunday brunch for geese

It was such a pleasant, sunny morning, Susan Boedefeld and James Thomson decided to stop by at the Mill Pond in Richmond Hill, bringing a bagful of bread crumbs for the Canada Geese. The birds, obviously accustomed to friendly visitors and largesse, were unruffled, and perhaps even reasonably polite.

Baha'i Habitat delegate to address public meeting

MAPLE — Habitat; was it all negative? Or was there a positive side to the conference? Ed Muttart of Markham, the Baha'i delegate to Habitat Forum, thinks there was much that was positive. He will speak on the topic at a public meeting July 16 at Maple community centre. At the forum, Muttart presented the Baha'i view that the "earth is but one country, and mankind its citizens." Until racial, political and religious prejudices are eradicated, he said, man's progress toward better living standards for all will be a slow and painful process. The Baha'i faith belongs to the social and economic branch of the non-governmental organization at the United Nations. In that capacity, the Baha'is supported the principles of Habitat in bringing together many peoples to discuss common problems. Baha'i members in the area invite the public to join them for the Maple meeting.
