UNIONVILLE — Union Villa Womens' Auxiliary held its annual auction and rummage sale on Sept. 25, and according to organizer Mary Neale, "sold more than ever before." There were hundreds of visitors and cars.

All items for auction were sold, and the rummage barn was almost emptied as well. Unsold items from the rummage barn were donated to the Goodwill Society.

Profits from the sale were close to $2,700. The auxiliary plans to use most of this money for installing either cable TV or a new television tower in the Villa, at a cost of close to $2,000, and the remainder will go toward the dental laboratory.

With the sale over for another year, the auxiliary had hardly time to take a breath before beginning work this week on the Villa's Christmas bazaar, scheduled for Nov. 27.

Blood donor clinic

The Markham branch of the Canadian Red Cross will hold a blood donor clinic on Oct. 13 at Grace Anglican Church, 19 Parkway Dr. in Markham.

The clinic will be open from 2 to 8:30 p.m., and free babysitting service is available.

This is the last of three clinics to be held this year.

Library displays

The Unionville Centennial Library is looking for local residents who have interesting hobbies or collections for their special displays and courses.

If you have a collection like pottery, paintings, or glassware that you are willing to lend for a short time for display, or a hobby such as sketching or macrame in which you are willing to instruct adults or children, please call Mrs. Allen at the library, 297-2641.

Nostalgia collection

Markham Centennial Library at 199 Main Street has planned a series of four evening programs for this fall. They will take place on four consecutive Thursdays beginning Oct. 28, at 8:15 p.m.

The first features guest speaker Pat Rogal, who will discuss a fascinating collection of 'nostalgia', including old fans, postcards and buttons. The following week, Alan Suddon, founder of the Costume Society of Ontario will talk about the development of nineteenth century costumes.

On Nov. 11, a selection of Chinese jewellery and porcelain will be shown and explained by two Chinese women now living in Toronto.

The final program features an old photography collection which will be shown by Terry Wedge of the Photographic Historical Society.

Seating will be limited, so please pick up free tickets at the library main desk two weeks in advance of each program.

The "talk-in", weekly adult book discussion group, begins this Thursday at 8:30 p.m. at the library. It involves talks from a prepared reading list.
