We must live with the choices made

By Rev. Robert Quick
Free Methodist Church

In a few days many of us will be free to do the most important thing in the world — CHOOSE — by means of exercising our franchise to vote.

It is important we vote but also very important how we vote. We have to live with the choices we make.

A little boy of five, after seeing a puppet show, expressed his reaction this way: "I'm glad I'm not one of those pretending persons. They have to do what they're told." The lad was right. We are real persons, able to stand up and make our choices. That is the way God created us.

But, two things must be added. Firstly, we are not free to choose the results of our choosing. That is in hands other than our own. Involved in the freedom to choose are hazards, possibilities for breakdown and heartache, possibilities for good and evil depending on how and what we choose.

Something to choose

Secondly, since God made us to choose, there must be something to choose between. There is no election if there are not at least two possibilities. The universe God created is a moral one — one which takes sides on moral issues. Although our society would say otherwise, there are "moral laws" — unwritten laws of God, which we must come to terms with.

A father, in explaining Newton's Law Of Gravitation and how it holds things together, was asked by his son "Well, Dad, who held things together before they passed this law?" Just as Newton did not pass the Law of Gravity but only discovered it, so we do not pass moral laws or create them out of our "taboos and rules". We discover them.

They are written into the very structure of our being — the way we are made to live. The Bible tells us God made man in His own image.

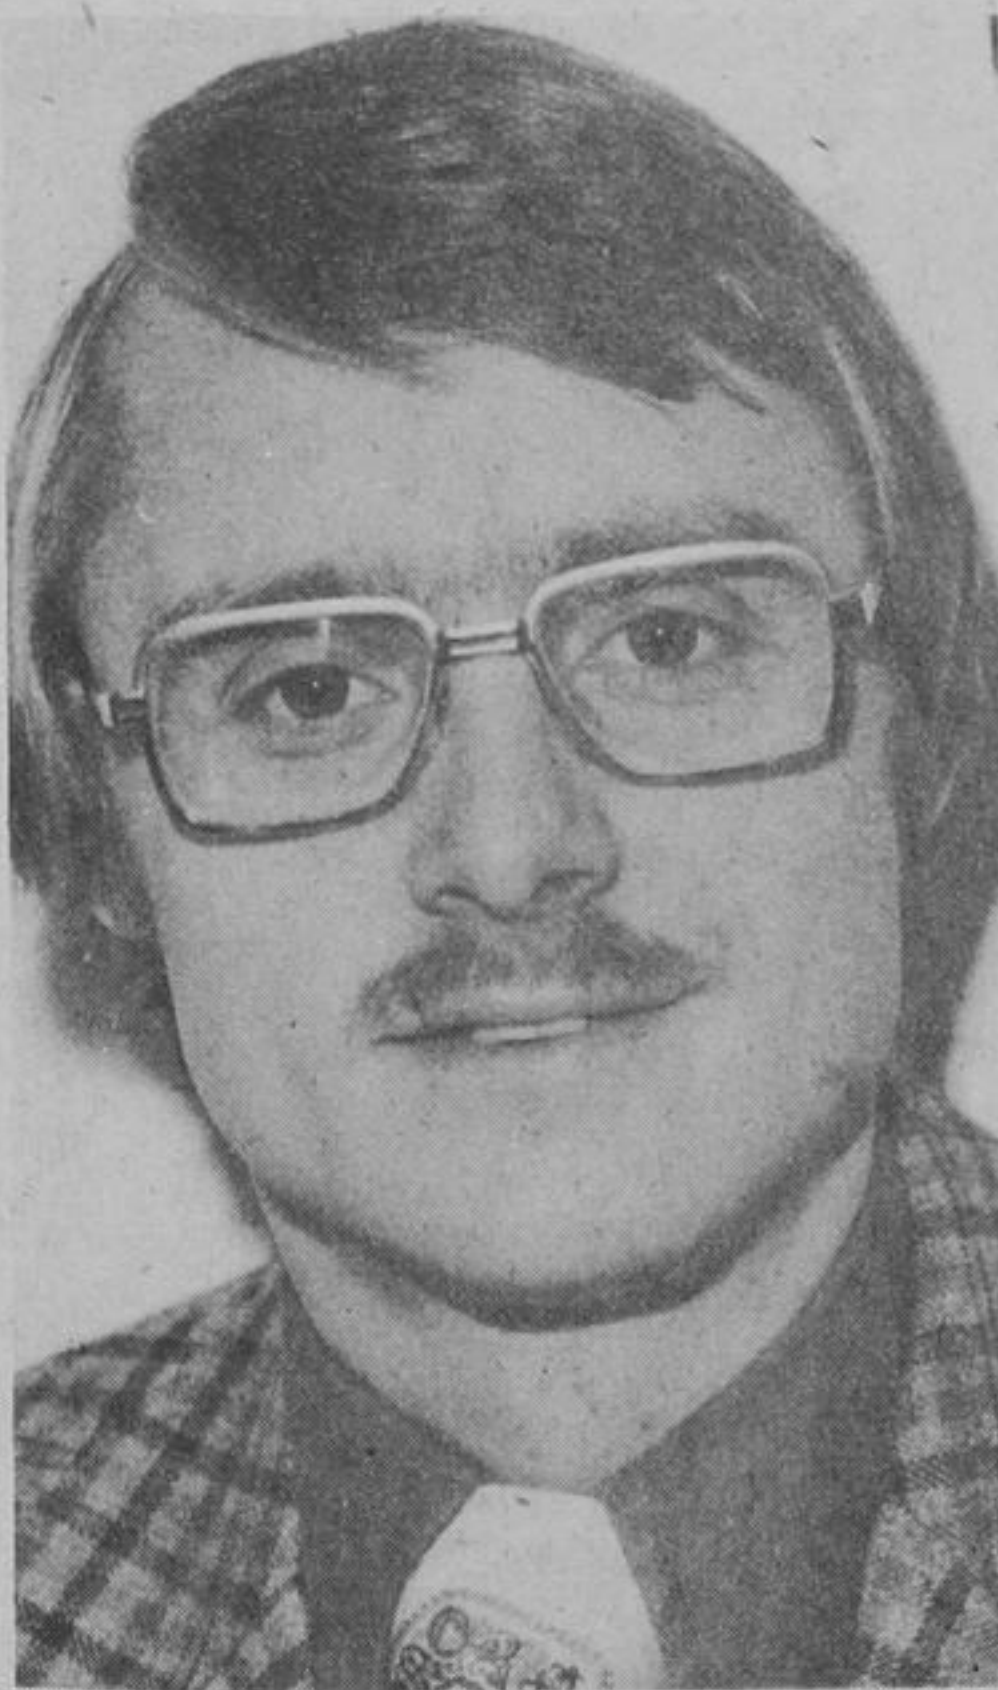

He stamped within us a way to live and work just as an engineer stamps within an engine, which he constructs, a way to work and if it obeys and chooses that way, it works well and harmoniously.

Walk with lights

A man was about to walk across a street against the lights when another stepped up to him and said "Friend, if you want to live long walk with the lights. If you don't, walk against them. That is the lesson of life.

If we want to live well, choose to walk with the green lights God has given us. If you don't, then choose to walk against God's red lights, and be hurt.

So we don't have to do what we are told. We are not "pretending people".

Rev. Robert C. Quick
..... freedom to choose

from the churches

We are people with the freedom to choose. Are we ready to face the consequences of those choices? Would it not be wise to co-operate with God, align our choices with His will and way, and make His wisdom our own. What a possibility for good and us!
