

Pretty rock, mmmh

The rink Jill Ring was on didn't win the Christmas Bonspiel at the Richmond Hill Curling Club but who cares. She's pretty to watch in action and that's what counts. Jill is shown tossing a rock for Len Lee's rink. That's class.

Christmas 'spiel big hit

By Ron Taylor

RICHMOND HILL — JUST AS THINGS APPEAR to be going well for him, Bob Weiss finds himself in his usual role. Hot from a great come-from-behind win over Dave Pulchinski Monday night where he was behind 7-0 after four ends, Bob was low point getter at the Christmas bonspiel.

His problem seems to be lack of concentration on the ice and too many distractions while off the ice. He could be the big "booby" however, if his "booby" prize wins the next lottery.

Tripp wins
Armon Tripp and his rink of Liz Hillaby, Jack Vernon and Pat Little took top honors on the first draw but was forced to two extra ends by Jim Lane and his rink of Fran Anderson, Ron Taylor and Anne Webb. Jim and his rink won third prize. Bert Naylor captured second prize by one point with his rink of Chris Rickaby, Doreen Nye and Ross Wood. As mentioned previously, Bob Weiss came in last as he had trouble controlling June Beaumont, Bob Krol and Irma Ferris.

Brayshaw wins
On the second draw, Don Brayshaw won with his rink of Laura Watson, Tab McDonald and Betty Moore. Don also skipped Jim Lane's rink on Friday night on the early draw.

Dave Bruce with Audrey Loudon, Bruce Stephenson and Nancy Walker came in second. Third prize went to Bob Moore and his rink of Lynn Anderson, Murray Watson and Edna Coulter.

hill curling column

John Scott's rink of Janet Thompson, Leigh Raymond and Dorothy Dent won the booby prize.

Santa Orton
I missed Orton Beaumont's performance as Santa Claus, but he wasn't too cheerful Sunday afternoon.

Vera Shropshire skipped a rink in a Business Girls' spiel in St. Catharines recently and won the first draw with her rink of Olive Pulchinski, Marnie Wilson and Helen Foord.

This was Vera's first time at the helm and from reports she was just as convincing off the ice. She apparently charmed two men into changing Marnie's flat tire.

Two questions also remain unanswered. Why did Olive and Helen visit the United States and why did Gloria Crotin arrive late with her hungry rink?

Oh, oh
Richmond Hill won't be too popular because another rink from our club won the second draw. That honor went to Janet Thomson, Jane Gillespie, Gloria Crotin and Penny Kavanagh.

In the Men's section, all divisions are now into the second schedule.

Perky unbeaten
Floyd Perkins apparently went undefeated on Thursday night with his rink of Hank Todd, Bernie Lewis and Bruce Stephenson.

Len Lee and his rink of Mike Mulcahy, Jim Lane and Rick Johnston almost remained undefeated but lost their final game when Leonard failed to show up for the game.

I guess the pressure was too much. Maybe he was upset by Jean Brumwell when she pulled rank on him and refused to give up her tab during the mixed curling recently.

Dave Pulchinski must also be concerned about his promotion to B flight as he was seen throwing some rocks on Sunday.

Maybe Bob Weiss, John Scott and Leigh Raymond, Jack Shropshire, Bill Rice and a few others should be out there also.

Don't forget
Tab McDonald has the New Year's Eve tickets ready for distribution. We all know how successful he is at selling tickets so make sure you get yours early. Remember, dinner is served early this year.

The Hillers also have a game in hand over Thornhill and could move into sole possession of the runner-up position with victories against Aurora and Orillia next weekend.

Explosive
The Newmarket game showcased a well-balanced explosive Richmond Hill offense and provided an auspicious coaching debut for Al Apps who assumed the coaching reins while Jim Cade and Bill Neville gazed from the stands.

Tournaments Inc. scored four shorthanded goals in the contest, never relinquishing the lead after opening an early 3-0 margin.

Richmond Hill's win marked a return to the team play that carried the club through an outstanding pre-season schedule.

Coach declared: "We're back on track it would seem. But we sure need those two games next week if we hope to nail down second place and challenge Barrie."
