

Father Knows Best...?

Father knows best — or does he? Father (Clive Ryland) left, tries to persuade distraught son, Arthur (Robert Leon) that he does in this scene from the Curtain Club's new play, All in Good Time, Jan. 28-Feb. 12.

All in Good Time a family affair

RICHMOND HILL — The next production at the Curtain Club, All in Good Time, is something of a family affair, both on stage and off.

In the former setting, a newly-wed couple finds that living with another member of the family from the wedding night on is not the best way to start off married life.

Maintaining the family ties away from the story, although in more happy circumstances, is the Steele family of Richmond Hill.

Son Rob, 15, plays the role of Eddie, while father, Chris, is the stage manager.

While not actively involved with the play, Rob's mother, Chris, has been helping Rob prepare for his role at home. Mrs. Steele is well known for her many roles with the Club over the years.

A Grade 10 student at Bayview Secondary School, Rob made his debut with the club in the 1975 production of Our Town.

Debut
Colin Nickle also feels very much at home at the club, although his role as Geoff, the groom's brother, is his first. Colin has spent most of his 16 years in Richmond Hill and attends Richmond Hill High School.

For years he has helped his mother Marie Nickle in her long career backstage.

For years he has helped his mother Marie Nickle in her long career backstage at the club, although his role as Geoff, the groom's brother, is his first. Colin has spent most of his 16 years in Richmond Hill and attends Richmond Hill High School.

Needless to say, Marie Nickle is helping with set decoration for this production.

Playing the sensitive roles of Arthur and Violet, the newly-married couple who have difficulty consummating their marriage in the parental home, are two other relative newcomers to the club's stage.

Robert Leon, 23, a recent graduate of McGill University with a degree in marine biology, participated in McGill theatrical productions and completed six weeks at the Banff School of Fine Arts last summer, studying acting.

Yvette Steele
... mother, too

Rob moved to Down-sview in September.

The role of Arthur is his first for the Curtain Club and he is finding it "enough challenge to keep me working all the time."

Commenting on the enthusiasm of his fellow actors he says he has learned something from everyone with whom he has worked and looks forward to further appearances at the Curtain Club.

Not so new to the Club, and certainly well known for her work in Richmond High School productions is 17-year-old Martha Jane Buell.

Her last role with the club was Emily in Our Town. Asked how she felt about playing the role of someone older than herself, she replied that she had "a weird feeling of reverse deja vu", explaining that instead of drawing from experience, she is predicting it.

Most of the roles she has played in the past have been those of "sweet innocent girls" and she sees her role as Violet as being "a more mature sweet innocent girl".

George Moseley
... first violinist

Night off

First violinist George Moseley of York Symphony Orchestra won't be playing when the orchestra next gets together Jan. 28.

But he'll probably be doing plenty of dancing. The occasion is the orchestra's fund-raising dinner-dance at La Gondola Banquet Hall in Concord.

Providing the dancing music will be Peter Daminoff's group. Strolling musicians will entertain during the dinner portion.

The evening is open to all, so call 884-9242 if you'd like to go.

Youngest
Rob, Colin, Bob and Martha are the youngest members of the 11-strong cast. The play, a comedy-drama, is directed by Brian J. Moore, recently seen in the role of Theseus in The Rape of the Belt.

Performances begin Jan. 28.

Most cases of poisoning in Canada occur at home. Any non-food substance, including medicine, is a potential poison, especially for children. Keep all drugs, including vitamin pills and headache tablets, in child-resistant containers, preferably under lock and key.
