

Carriers away!

A pack of cheering Richmond Hill Liberal carrier boys had a chance to catch a sunburn and a cold at the same time Saturday at the Toronto Blue Jays-Minnesota Twins ball game at wind-chilled Exhibition Stadium. They didn't seem to mind. It was simple. Just keep eating hot dogs, popcorn, peanuts and then washing them down with some pop. Then start over again. The Liberal carrier boys helped swell the 34,091-strong weekend crowd on a sunny but definitely wind-swept day. The youngsters had won their right to the ball game by way of signing up new Liberal customers. They earned a total of 62 seats in the four week contest which saw a Blue Jay ticket provided for every new customer. Highlight of the afternoon came in a pre-game ceremony which saw Liberal carrier boy Lawrence Tribbling joining his counterpart from the Willowdale Enterprise, David O'Hehir, in presenting a gift to Blue Jay's Doug Ault.

One of the veteran Blue Jay ball watchers was 14-year-old Andrew Don, 423 Wenlock Avenue, Richmond Hill, who was seeing his third game. He was optimistic despite a 3-0 deficit the Blue Jays were facing at the moment. "The Blue Jays won 10-3 and 7-2 in the other games I took in," he said and added confidently, "And they'll win this one before its over." Equally confident were other youngsters in the area including Tony Lott, 14, of 234 Alsace Avenue; Jim Barton, 14, of 205 Colbourne Avenue; Terry Brown, 14, of 373 South Taylor Mills Drive; and Rob Genoa, 14, of 405 Osiris Drive, all of Richmond Hill. "They'll rally before it's over," Genoa assured everyone. Alas, the only local thing that rallied was the chilly breeze and the day ended with the Blue Jays losing 4-1. Nothing to do but drown your sorrows in another hot dog, a box of popcorn or peanuts. At least that's the out the youngsters took Saturday at Exhibition Stadium.

Eagle-eyed

Not wanting to miss a minute, Carriers Jim Barton, Colbourne Avenue, Richmond Hill; Andrew Don, Wenlock Avenue, Richmond Hill; Rob Genoe, Osiris Drive, Richmond

Hill; Tony Lott, Alsace Road, Richmond Hill; and Terry Brown, South Taylor Mills, Richmond Hill enjoyed the game in spite of the cold.

Scrambled eggs

The scramble for eggs is on: Grouse eggs, that is.

The University of Guelph is again looking for the public's assistance in locating nests of the wild Ruffed Grouse. The eggs (which will bring the finder $1 apiece) are needed to strengthen the university's captive hybrid population, as well as provide grouse for the Ministry of Natural Resources' research.

All captive birds are given the best possible care. If you've seen one of their elusive hide-a-ways within 125 miles of Guelph, telephone collect to Betty Campbell, 824-4120, extension 2703, or Allan Garbutt, 836-5346.

For first run

Lawrence Trembling, a young Liberal carrier from Richmond Hill, got to meet Blue Jay star Doug Ault last week, presenting the player with a Metrospan trophy for scoring the first-ever Blue Jay run.

Play golf for young Timmy

The Rolling Hill Golf and Country Club, south of Gormley, will host the championship wind-up of the Al Balding Golf Week this year. Proceeds go to the Ontario Society for Crippled Children as represented by Timmy. Anyone wanting to compete for the provincial wind-up June 22 at Rolling Hills may do so by playing at his own club. It's a handicap competition, meaning that your score is the number of strokes you take, less a handicap. But it isn't the handicap on that official car you may carry around.

It's a blind-draw deal, and it will be done after the May 14-23 Timmy Golf Week ends. Timmy — Steven Fitzpatrick of Scarborough — will draw numbers from a hat. The difference between par on the holes bearing those numbers at the course you played, and your score on those holes is your handicap. The winners go to the Rolling Hill club provincial tournament of champions June 22. Balding got interested a while back when he visited the crippled children's centre in Leaside and "found out what those people are doing. A lot of others would get involved, too, if they went there."
