Berton home opened

The Pierre Berton house will be among those thrown open to the public for the first Kleinburg house tour Tuesday.

The house where Berton, wife Janet and their family lives, is one of the homier ones on the tour planned to raise money for the Kleinburg and Area Ratepayers Association.

Older homes on the tour include Eleanor and Sid Dawson's Redcroft whose gingerbread and tassel trim dates from 1852, Abermoray, the home of Helen and Walter Murray built in 1862 and Mary and Bill Corcoran's Glengarriff Farm built in 1856 by a Scottish stone mason and remodelled by Napier Simpson.

In contrast, there is the strikingly modern home of Mario and Delores Vespi which features handcarved doors from India and an Italian marble hall.

The old Mt. Lebanon school house has been converted into the Herman Pottery where the potter's works can be seen, both Jack Herman's stoneware and Lorraine's porcelain.

Tickets for the tour are available at $5 each by calling 893-1177.

Thornhill robbery thwarted

A Thornhill man thwarted a possible robbery when he fought off an attack at his home last week.

Milton Goodman, 15 Dersingham Cresc., told police he answered a knock at his door about 10:35 p.m., June 4 and was forced back into the house by a man, who attacked him with a 15-inch pipe.

After a short fight, however, the attacker fled.

He is described as six feet, slim, short dark hair, dark clothing, and wearing a stocking over his head.

Paint job

A man, who tried to spray paint himself out of a corner, wound up facing three charges.

Police said the incident resulted when a man driving north on Yonge St., collided with another vehicle, but failed to remain.

He was followed by the other motorist and eventually wound up in a ditch.

When approached by the other driver, he sprayed him with a can of paint, police said.

Arrested on charges of impaired driving, failing to remain and administering an obnoxious thing, was Henry Van Schubert, 21, of Inverlochy Boulevard, Thornhill.

Schoolyard violence

A 17-year-old youth and three juveniles were arrested last week after an incident near a schoolyard in Maple.

Police said that two young boys got in a fight; one of them then took off and came back later with three other boys, all armed with offensive weapons.

The four threatened the first youth, who fled into the safety of the school.

The youths then fled and were arrested the next day.

Jay Brisson, 17, of Dufferin St., Concord, faces three charges of contributing to juvenile delinquency and one of carrying an offensive weapon.

The juveniles involved were aged 13, 14 and 15.
