

Hallowe'en?

Sherri Ferrando, 8, of 252 McConvey Drive, was almost covered when she modelled this aluminized asbestos head cover owned by the Richmond Hill Fire Department. John McGurran, 9, of 268 Neal Drive, felt more comfortable in normal fire fighter's helmet.

Instructing the children on the use of firefighting equipment is Rick Lazenby, who joined fire fighter Bill Mavor last week in a safety program sponsored by the Richmond Hill Parks and Recreation Department.

Snider reunion at Teston draws 243 descendents

Some 243 descendents of Henry Snider participated in a two-day family reunion at the home of Bruce and Evelyn Snider of Kirby Sideroad, Teston, July 9 and 10.

The interest in organizing the event was stimulated by a book about the Snider family titled "They Wrote Their Own History".

Visitors came from Colorado, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, British Columbia, Quebec, Ottawa, Kingston and Little Britain from outside York Region and Toronto areas.

Some of the group visited the homes of J.J. Buchanan, Thornhill; P.A. Snider, Concord; and the Dalziel barn at Black Creek Pioneer Village where early Snider furniture and artifacts are on display.

The activities were concluded at Fisherville Church where Andrew Snider of Maple conducted a worship service.

Participants were Mercie Heise and Ruthanne Snider, organists, Lois Snider, soloist, George Glaser who read the scripture and Arthur Heise who thanked the reunion committee for their efforts.

Alcohol education program planned

A proposed alcohol education program at King City secondary school, was approved this week by York County board of education.

A core committee, consisting of nine teachers from the school, has already been set up to devise the program, which will begin in the fall.

A tentative program will include the showing of such movies as "The Days of Wine and Roses," and "Portrait of a Teenage Alcoholic."

Essay contests, healthy study programs and classes on historical alcoholic figures and how they functioned are among other proposed studies.

When asked if student drinking was a problem around King City secondary, vice-principal Michael Muir told The Liberal that it wasn't.

There was the occasional student, who turned up at a dance somewhat the worse for alcohol, but that happened at most schools.

He said the program had been initiated by the school nurse and the physical education department.

They had felt it could be of some use in educating students about the disadvantages of alcohol.

Appointed councillor

Margaret Anderson of Richmond Hill has been appointed councillor for Ontario Business Education Association.

Business education director at Langstaff secondary school, Miss Anderson will look after the running of the OBEA's annual typing, shorthand and accounting contest for the country.

She will also be responsible for a continued liaison between local educators and the central executive of the association.

Grant enables more help be given senior citizens

A grant of $46,710 has been given to the York branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses to assist senior citizens in York Region.

For the past few months, the board of the York VON has been considering what could be done to assist seniors who are finding it increasingly difficult to handle daily duties, said Gerald Cassidy, president of the York Branch.

"It is believed there is a need for home helpers to supplement the excellent work that is presently being carried on by public health nurses, VON, and meals on wheels volunteers," he said. "It is envisaged that a home helper would probably visit a home once or twice a week and might spend one to three hours depending on circumstances."

Tasks might include storing of season clothing, taking garments to the cleaners, cleaning high shelves, putting out garbage, assisting with shopping or banking, assisting with or advising the person to consult regarding paper work, legal help, income tax forms, etc., or simply sitting down for a friendly chat, Mr. Cassidy said.

It is believed the extra amount of support given by home helpers would, in many cases, enable senior citizens to remain longer in their own homes, postponing the necessity of moving into nursing homes or homes for the aged.

As the funds have been made available by a federal works grant under the co-ordination of Manpower and supervised by the VON Branch, no fees to the recipient of this service will be necessary.

The program will employ project workers and one project manager and will start Aug. 22 and continue through the end of March, 1978.
