

Mexican soccer players invade Hill

Ready for action

Playing for the York Region Select Major Mosquito team, Robert Muzzin, 12, prepares for game against Cabbagetown during Monday's soccer tournament at Crosby Park.

Everyone got trophies

Trophies were presented to team players following Monday's tournament. Less Trotman, Kim Rex-Graham, who is Miss Richmond Hill Minor Soccer, and Tony Lott, were in charge of the trophy presentations.

Unique exercise

Half-time break and the young team from Mexico City uses it to advantage. With their heads below bodies, blood is circulating to brain, keeping youngsters in alert condition. Well-disciplined team had several unique rest methods.

Wanna dance?

New dance step seems to be what Mexican player Francisco Rueda is showing York's Kevin Davies during exhibition soccer match Monday at Crosby Park. According to organizers, the day was an overwhelming success with everyone co-operating, including the weatherman.

Heading the ball

Kevin Davies of the York soccer team heads ball during game against Major Mosquitoes from Mexico City. Game ended in a draw and was won by York on penalty kicks. Mexican players have several games lined up this week throughout the district. They're billeted at homes in Richmond Hill.
