

Scenes from rain-soaked Markham Fair

Mudway The midway became a mudway throughout most of the Markham Fair, putting a damper on the fair's brand new McCowan Road location. Steady rains over the weekend kept the crowds at a minimum.

Outweighed

Jamie Broadstock, who weighs 23 pounds is no match for this 198-pound squash grown by Karen Pegg of Newmarket. The vegetable won first prize in the, believe it or not, heaviest squash category at the Markham Fair.

Who's lost?

She wasn't lost everybody else was. But it was still nice when Andrea, 4, was reunited with her mother, Mrs. Ingrid School, of Whitevale.

This Columbian Rock won first prize for Mel Preston, a resident of Milliken.

She's a winner

Harold Forder of Port Perry shows off Oneida, and for good reason. she's a winner.

Organized contest

Laura Heighway, of Unionville, not only played, but also organized the Markham Fair's fiddle contest.
