

Wilcox group would run Community Centre

While the arguments continue, the Lake Wilcox Community Centre continues to sit almost unused on Wildwood Avenue.

Carrying information saying the centre is getting very little use, area resident Dick Evans appeared before the Hill's Parks and Recreation Committee Thursday night.

In a proposed written policy, read by Ward 5 Councillor Bill Corcoran, it was noted:

"Under the present policy there has been little or no income from the property as there has been very very little use of the property.

"With the proposed policy while using people of the immediate area to control and promote the use of the centre there would be a projected use of ten fold the present use and an income of at least a recognizable fraction of the cost of operating the centre now."

Evans said the people of Lake Wilcox "just want to work in conjunction with people down here".

He said a committee of people in the area would be set up and they would "be allowed to run the hall, its bookings, etc., with town co-operation."

Chairman of the parks and recreation committee, Al Duffy wondered if the Lake Wilcox committee would take over the mortgage on the building.

"We wouldn't mind doing it in the least," Evans replied.

The proposed policy suggested rental rates be set for people in three groups: non-profit service; non-profit selective; and profit making.

Rates would range from "no charge" to $20 for the hall and $5 for the kitchen during the day or the evening.

An additional $20 charge would be levied for any group having a bar during any function.

"The hall is going to rot," Evans said. "It's still costing the same as if it were being used."

Councillor Mike Burnie felt the Lake Wilcox group should cover the expenses which amount to about $2,800 annually. Councillor Corcoran said people want to use the facility right now.

"They should apply for it, but they won't," replied Councillor Duffy.

"No, they won't," Councillor Corcoran agreed.

"They don't even want it for free," the chairman added.

Councillor Burnie said he would not submit to blackmail.

Evans told the committee the Lake Wilcox group was "willing to work with the Hill".

"You are The Hill," Councillor Duffy retorted.

The committee agreed to wait for a staff report on fee structures in other locales before making its final decision.

"Lots of other countries have Unemployment Insurance. What's so good about our system?"

Canada has one of the most comprehensive UI programs in the western world. It has a relatively short entrance period and pays benefits longer. And almost all Canadians share in the cost and benefits of the program.

By reducing the financial shock of people's movements from one job to another, unemployment insurance has helped to keep our workforce adaptable to today's rapidly changing social and economic conditions.

"Sure. But what about the cost. Canadians?"

Certainly, the dollar figures are high. This year's UI payout to Canadians will approach four billion dollars.

But consider that figure in light of the unemployment rate in the country.

The UI program gives temporary financial aid to hundreds of thousands of Canadians while they're between jobs.

"Isn't UI really just another kind of welfare?"

Far from it. Welfare money is paid only according to need.

Unemployment insurance money is paid according to eligibility.

It's like any other kind of insurance. If you've worked in insurable employment, and a situation arises which entitles you to make a claim, that claim will be settled as quickly and courteously as possible.

"Well, what do you do about cheaters and abusers?"

There are fewer cheaters and abusers than some would have you believe.

Outright criminal fraud is dealt with through conventional channels.

Some people abuse the system without even knowing it. Here, and at times when the abuse is not really criminal in nature, we have our own staff to handle the problems.

In any case, the vast majority of UI claimants deal with us as fairly as we try to deal with them.

"How about when I make a claim and you say 'no'?"

If you have good reason to disagree with any decision a UI makes on your claim, you have the right to appeal that decision to an independent and impartial board of referees, or then an Umpire of the Federal Court.

You can go to the appeal hearing and be represented by anyone you wish.

And if new information comes to light before or during the appeal, you can go back to your agent and ask for a review of the decision. And the whole appeal process is free.

Remember, our job is to pay you all the benefits you are entitled to.

"OK, what do you have to do while you're receiving benefits?"

Your unemployment insurance office can ask you to carry out what we call a formal "Active Job Search". Your agent will want to know what you're doing to find suitable and gainful employment while you're getting your cheques.

But no matter what happens, you should keep looking seriously for a new job and follow any instructions your UI office or Canada Manpower Centre gives you. Your right to continuing benefits depends on it.

If you'll do your job, we'll do ours.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission and the Department of Manpower and Immigration have become the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission. For a time, you'll still see our local offices identified as Unemployment Insurance offices or Canada Manpower Centres. When they're together in one location, they'll be called Canada Employment Centres.

Working with people who want to work.
