Major inventory at our library is now underway

An inventory of the entire Richmond Hill Public Library book collection is now underway. The collection, estimated to number 88,092, is distributed over the three library branches. It has never been subjected to a large scale inventory. Four employees started the mammoth task on December 5, financed by a Canada Works Grant of $8,385. The project will last 13 weeks.

Medallion, plates librarian's reward

After a library career that started out in "one tiny room in the old town hall," Richmond Hill's 20 years of service last assistant to the chief librarian was honored for "I've seen a lot of changes in the past 20 years." Maureen Stephenson told the Liberal. "But I've really enjoyed and I'm really enjoying it so much."

Thornhill bridge club expands to two nights

The bridge club meeting at the Thornhill Community Centre is expanding to two nights a week. The casual approach to duplicate bridge fostered by Ted and Audrey Horning has proved popular with 35 to 40 tables going Thursday nights. This will be expanded to Tuesday nights as well starting in January. There are tables for those "mildly to enthusiastically" interested in bridge, said Mrs. Horning, and a social atmosphere is maintained. "Anyone who yells at their partner is asked to leave," she said. "We are very strict about that." It costs $3 per person per night with a light up. smorgasbord included. The main expenses is the hall rental of $25 per hour. Games start at 7:45 p.m. and players can be home at 11 p.m. if they want to be, said Mrs. Horning. Reservations are not necessary and a guaranteed partner is on hand in case an odd number of people show up.

"It was a wonderful lunch," she said. "And we've got a tremendous board and staff." She was presented with two hand painted plates by Elsie Edmed of Richvale and a "medallion the size of a dinner plate" at the library's annual luncheon. Bob Henderson, coordinator of branch libraries, made the presentation on behalf of the board and staff. The lunch itself is always a treat, said Ms. Stephenson, as the library staff has a proliferation of gourmet cooks.

Christmas season brings threats to child safety

"Christmas brings temptations to many parents, while visiting with neighbors or completing last minute shopping, to leave small children unattended for short periods," says Richmond Hill Fire Chief Bob Kennedy. "At the same time, decorations, trees and wrapping paper bring an increased threat of fire danger unless constant care is exercised," he says. Chief Kennedy urges all parents to recognize the fire danger of this season and not to leave small children alone in the home even for a moment. He points out that the Criminal Code of Canada forbids such action which endangers the life or health of any child under the age of 10 years. Parents are also reminded that under certain conditions a Christmas tree can be ignited by a single match to burn furiously to charred wood in a few seconds. Care must be taken to keep butts of natural trees immersed in water and to ensure that the tree itself does not obstruct access to a door or window. Families also are urged to review their home fire-escape plans for a quick exit in an emergency. For further information call the guys at the Richmond Hill Fire Department at 884-1121, extension 63. They'll be happy to help.
