

14-year-old author

Gordon Korman, 14-year-old author from Thornhill, signs the contract with Scholastic Publications Ltd. of Richmond Hill for his second book, "Go Jump in the Pool," while David Grieg, Scholastic general supervisor watches. Korman's first book, This Can't Be Happening at Macdonald Hall, is being used to teach and entertain children in hundreds of schools. (Liberal photo by Bruce Hogg.)

Village library celebration raises money for furnishing

"Bring the Family to the Celebration" is the way the Committee headed by Mrs. T.G. Gibson announces their big fund raising affair for the support of the Thornhill Village Library Restoration.

The Thornhill Village Library, at 10 Colborne Street, has housed the Library since 1960 and has undergone a major transformation on the outside.

Since last year, the committee has been working on plans to restore the interior of the building, which is a historic one located in a strategic position at the entrance to one of Thornhill's most historic streets.

The work to date has been financed by the Town of Markham and they have contributed much moral support as well. However, funds were never allocated for the interior. The Library Board has applied for a Heritage Grant and they can also receive from Wintario one dollar for each dollar raised from the private sector.

The "Spring Celebration" takes place on Saturday, May 27 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. Gibson will be responsible for the Games of Chance and the Treasure Table, Cynthia Tappay is in charge of the Book Sale, Mrs. Maude Carruthers will look after the Lunch arrangements along with Gwen Wojna. Mrs. Carruthers will be in charge of the Fish Pond and Raffles while Barbara Holding will take care of the Garden Shop.

It will be a day of fun for the children and in case of rain, the events planned to take place on the lawn at the Library will move indoors to St. Vladimir's Church Hall at the end of the street.

Trinkets and bric-brac will be gladly accepted for the Treasure Table or by calling 881-7269.

Citizenship court travels to Thornhill

The Court of Canadian Citizenship came to Markham Place Mall in Thornhill last Monday. They have begun an outreach program to assist immigrants in becoming Canadian citizens by locating in different areas of Toronto and outlying suburbs.

The team will be at the Richvale Community Centre in Richmond Hill, Carrville Room, the fourth Thursday in each month from 2 to 8 p.m. and in Markham Place Mall 2900 Steeles Avenue East in Thornhill the second Monday of every month from 2 to 8 p.m. excluding holidays. It will visit one dozen other locations in the Metro area in rotation.

Applicants will be given a booklet and an application form to fill out. They will be asked to have all their documents available, namely passport, landing card, and two small pictures (including the white signature strip at the bottom) preferably in black and white. A fee is to be paid with the application. After a short time they will be notified to come in for a hearing before a judge.

Joyce Rutherford, who has been supervisor of the unit since October of 1973 says "although a team was formed in 1973, we now want to broaden our service to anyone who wants to apply."

If they are successful in passing the hearing, and everything is in order, they are called in to take the oath of allegiance.
