

Hospital auxiliary to honor juniors

Richmond Hill Central

York Central Hospital Auxiliary will hold its general open meeting tomorrow, November 9 starting at 8 p. m. in the lecture hall at the hospital. All auxiliary members are invited to attend and bring a friend. This is the night the Junior Auxiliary members are honored for their service. Refreshments will be served after the meeting in the cafeteria, directly across the hall.

LIBRARY

For anyone who still isn't sure who's who and who's doing what in the election campaign, maybe the Richmond Hill Library can help.

They have arranged a display of election materials in the rear lobby of the Wright Street Library, and the staff has compiled a binder of all newspaper clippings, background material and pictures of all the candidates.

Displayed in the showcase at the Richmond Hill Public Library during the month of November will be a variety of antique hand-stitched samplers from the 1777 to 1880 era.

One entitled 'Rules for Children' you may find of particular interest, although not many of the rules apply to the youth of today.

Several others are shown depicting the work of both students and adults of that era, and lovers of antiquity should enjoy seeing this display.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Richmond Hill Lions Minor Atom Soccer Team is in need of money to send the boys to a tournament in Miami in December, and they will hold a rummage sale to raise some of it.
