

The Scrap Book.

Here Wit in bright effulgence glows,
With Wisdom joined, through rhyme and prose,
And both unite their charms in one,
To form the sage and humorous pun.

A MIDNIGHT VISION.

A friend of ours after vainly soliciting the aid of the Muses for their assistance, produced the following on his own responsibility:

I dreamt a dream the other night,
When all around was still,
I thought I saw the Printer Boys,
All round about the—Hill!

The YORK GAZETTE was in their hands,
And glasses filled each eye,
And when I'd conned its pages o'er,
I was not inclined to sigh.

For joy did glow within my heart,
As I perused its prose and rhyme,
To see it take a noble part
In the great questions of our time.

Our private and our public rights
It bravely does maintain;
Those rights which never yield to might,
It with fearlessness defends.

I thought 'twas spreading far and near,
And other nations saw its face,
And onward sped its will career,
With tidings to the human race.

I wished it speed: so it went,
And my subscription to the office sent,
And woke, and in an awful sweat
Sent you my dream upon the—YORK GAZETTE.

The most mischievous liars are those who keep just on the verge of truth.

The rich, with all their resources, are said to have no home. How is that?—Because of a poisoned hearth-stone.

Babies were described many years ago as noisy, lactiferous annulaceae, much disliked by those who never had any.

A young lady being asked why the noun bachelor is singular, replied, "Because it's very singular they don't get married."

A country girl, writing to her friends, says of a polka, "that the dancin' does not amuse me much, but the buggin' is heavenly."

The difference between a post office stamp and a donkey, is that you stick one with a lick, and the other you lick with a stick.

Put an American baby, six months old, on his feet, and he will immediately say, "Mr. Chairman," and next call the cradle to order.

The Josephine is the newest article of female attire, and is somewhat like a shanghai coat. It makes the wearer resemble the new comet—little body and tremendous tail.

A little girl addressing her sister, asked: "What was the Chaos, Pa was reading about to-day?" To which the latter replied: "Twas a great pile of nothing, and no place to put it in."

The editor of the Lynn (Mass.) News thinks children's games are becoming popular with older persons now-a-days, as he has seen, recently, "a large number of full grown men chasing hoops in our streets."

"Boy," said a visitor at the house of a friend to his little son, "step over the way and see how old Mrs. Brown is." The boy did the errand and on his return reported that Mrs. Brown did not know how old she was.

The editor of the Battle of Liberty and Tomahawk of Liberty, writing from Philadelphia, after hearing Miss Louisa Pyne sing the song of the "Sky-ark," says, "Her voice is delicious, pure as the moon-light, and tender as a three shilling shirt."

Paddy was summoned to court for refusing to pay a doctor's bill; Judge—Why do you refuse to pay? Paddy—What for should I pay? I shure did give me anything but some emetics, and the devil a one could I keep on my stomach, at all, at all.

A Dutchman was relating his marvellous escape from drowning when thirteen of his companions were lost by the upsetting of a boat, and he alone was saved. "And how did you escape their fate?" asked one of his hearers. "I did not answer to be the Dutchman's placid answer."

An old maid recently died who left property to the value of nearly eight thousand pounds. She was all her lifetime getting ready to be married, and had stored up 182 sheets, 63 coverlets, 56 blankets, 87 beds, with 1,120 pounds of feathers, 54 pillows, 53 handkerchiefs, and numerous other articles.
