

OMB gets mall plan despite lack of process

Residents of Putting Green Crescent in Kleinburg have requested that a subdivision plan in their area be referred directly to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Regional council decided last week that the referral did not have to be made right away and instead sent it to the planning committee.

Regional solicitor Ted Oakes quoted a court decision that said referrals had to be made if requested by adjoining landowners but not "with promptitude".

R. K. Guelpa, speaking for the residents across the road from the proposed subdivision plan known as Snow et al., on lots 24 and 25 of the ninth concession of Vaughan, are objecting to lot sizes that average 0.6 acres which they feel is incompatible with their own properties of one acre or more.

The group says that it agrees that the proper use of the land is for housing but the standard lot size should be that of Putting Green Crescent, Chapman's Heights, Klein's Ridge and other streets in the area.

The subdivision they are objecting to is not the same one which was the subject of a lengthy OMB hearing in 1976 won by the Kleinburg and Area Ratepayers Association where the principle of slow growth was upheld to retain the character of the village.

That subdivision has received draft approval from the ministry of housing with 15,000 sq. ft. lots and on condition that sanitary sewers are installed.

Two ACLD guests will appear on Stong show

York Centre MLA, Alf Stong will welcome Pat Hume and Craig Shields from the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities on his bi-weekly show on Cable 10 to be aired next Monday, January 22.

The three will discuss the goals of the association and past accomplishments.

Kim Wildfong, program director for Classicomm, said many shots of the new centre on Leslie Street just north of 18th Avenue, will be included in the talk show.

Speaker to address Ladies Guild in Aurora

"Massey Hall Memories" is the topic of an address to be given by John B. Withrow to the Ladies Guild of the St. Andrew's College in Aurora.

The event will be held Wednesday, January 24, at 11 a.m.

For reservations, call Mrs. Nirenbuski at 884-7490.
