Book gives many excuses

How many times a day, do you find yourself saying 'I'm sorry' to someone?

'Excuses' is a book, written by a Thornhill mother and son team, to demonstrate in verse some excuses we use to explain our human failings.

Bernice Lever and her son, Gordon J. Fisher, combined artistic talents for the book. She wrote the verse and he illustrated the book.

Never again will you have to search fruitlessly for an 'I'm sorry card' to explain why you did something stupid or didn't do something you should have.

All the excuses you will ever need can be found in 'Excuses', and the verses are funny and so true of the 'Not quite perfect human being'.

The illustrations add graphic humor to the verses and show our human failings at their funniest.

The book is ready for the public, but is the public ready for the book?

By reading the book, you will no longer have to say 'I'm sorry because...'. You can simply copy the appropriate verse from the book and present it.

Think of the fun you can have with this book at parties.

Project HOSTEL seen as problem by some neighbors

Hostels are usually very quiet and not really a problem, says Karen Prokopchuk, co-ordinator for the regional organization called Project HOSTEL (Housing Opportunities for Short Term and Emergency Lodging).

Prokopchuk said she fears they have the intention of changing the zoning.

Not all neighbors are against the project, said Mrs. Prokopchuk, pointing to the fact that some have come forward with support in the way of items for the hostel.

The organization is looking for volunteers to help get the house ready, as they have had many calls, and donations of furniture, appliances, bedding and kitchen articles are most welcome.

The organization recently secured a house to use as a hostel on Church Street in Newmarket and some neighbors have complained saying they don't want such a facility in their neighborhood.

"Unfortunately, this has got out of hand," said Mrs. Prokopchuk, "people are emotional on both sides."

The co-ordinator for the project, hoping to offer temporary housing to women with young children, said she felt neighbors' fears of disturbances were groundless and Project HOSTEL's aim is to make their house "an asset to the neighborhood".

Eight workers funded by a $60,000 Canada Works grant took possession of the house last Monday and are in the process of painting and redecorating.

At this time the house is in an area zoned for boarding houses, but because of complaints the Town of Newmarket has sent the issue for study by planning staff and Mrs.

Chairman of Ontario Hydro, Robert Taylor was present and talked about the early days of Richmond Hill as well as the restructuring of the hydro utility.

Chairman of the Region of York, Bob Foran, and Engineering Commissioner, Bob Hodgson; York Centre M.L.A., Alf Stong; Richmond Hill Mayor, Dave Schiller; and the new hydro chairman, Sam Cook, also spoke to the guests.

The new hydro facility set up a street light pole with a switch on it and Mr. Taylor and Mr. Cook closed the switch simultaneously setting off bulbs to signal the official opening.

The new hydro service in Richmond Hill is a result of a restructuring committee which worked to bring hydro boundaries in line with municipal boundaries.

His show, Polar Vision, opens at York University May 12 to 17 and this is where you can get an autographed copy of this new book.

Copies will be available in most book stores or from the writer.

Bernice Lever and Gordon Fisher will appear on Andrew Meles "Open Mind" on Classroom Cable 10 Thursday, March 1 at 6 p.m., 8 p.m. and 10 p.m.

The new book will be discussed, and Bernice will read some excerpts from it and some of Gordon's art work will be shown.
