

Church column

By Rev. NORMAN A. McNAIRN
Interim Minister
Richmond Hill United Church

A popular song we used to hear, combined a catchy tune with the appealing message, "Enjoy yourself, enjoy yourself, it's later than you think".
We can all respond to that idea.

Especially since we get daily reminders that it is indeed getting late.

Everything is getting more expensive. Oil and other energy sources are dwindling. The world's food supply will soon be unable to keep up with the growing number of hungry mouths.

Even man himself may before long become a threatened species, even if his greatest danger is his fellow man.

So it is a beguiling thought that we had better make the most of the time we have left, and enjoy ourselves. Of course it is not a new philosophy of life. Hedonism was well known in the classical world. Even further back, 27 centuries ago, it was given popular expression in words quoted by the prophet Isaiah.

He said that in his time there were people who said, "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die."

Even then it was quite clear to sensible persons like Isaiah that such a philosophy was stupid. Even worse, it was wicked. For the whole future of the country was in peril, and those self-indulgent loafers were needed to get in there and do something to save it.

Of course, there is no logic in the old philosophy. Even if it is true that it is later than you think, it does not necessarily follow that we must seek first our personal pleasure.

It is just as logical, and a whole lot more morally respectable to say: Let us do all the good we can, to as many as we can, for as long as we can. If we do that, then we might even be able to help to save the world. If we do that, we might even be surprised to discover that we are enjoying ourselves.
