

DAVE KANE

Bayview Secondary School elects a new president

Students at Bayview Secondary School have a new president of the student council.

Dave Kane will hold the office for 1979-80, and the election results could have been foretold, because he is a very popular person.

many of the school's extracurricular activities as well as maintaining an excellent academic standing.

He plans to delegate authority when he takes over office, thus giving many the opportunity of experiencing leadership.

headed by just one person, rather by several.

He feels that the personal approach is the best way to encourage fellow students to become involved, and he feels this can best be achieved on a one-to-one basis.

staff. He feels that teachers must be approached and asked to participate, or they will not venture to volunteer.

Dave plans to make sure the students get full use from the student activity cards, as the complaints about the uselessness of these cards have been wide-spread.

He wants to point out to the students just what these cards and the purchase of them can do for the school as a whole.

He realizes that the number of dances has been on the decrease, but hopes to be able to implement more dances, concerts and other similar activities, providing the interest is apparent.

If Dave Kane's optimism and enthusiasm are any indication of what the future will be like at Bayview, the students have a bright and successful year ahead of them.

Recently the largest newspaper in Canada - The Toronto Star - ran the following headline: "You Pay 20¢ Too Much For Eggs, Shoppers Told"

The story then went on to report the results of a just published study by the Agriculture Economic Research Council of Canada entitled The Cost of Canada's Egg System. Spurred on by this and a number of similar studies dealing with Canadian egg prices, Loblaws began an intensive search for a new idea to reduce egg costs to the Ontario consumer. We found that idea in the existence of surplus eggs which are sold to egg breakers at significantly lower prices than those eggs which are made available to the consumer as table eggs. Surplus eggs were discussed at length by the Food Prices Review Board.

Report on Egg Prices issued in January 1974.

"Surplus" eggs in both categories are channeled to the breaker market at prices lower than those prevailing for table eggs. . . . When compared to the prevailing table prices in the provinces for the corresponding period of 1973, the difference between the breaker price and the table prices in each case appear to be very substantial; one wonders whether there would have been need for any "surplus" program or "intervention" prices at all, if these prevailing prices (i.e. for table eggs) were lower."

No-Name eggs are surplus eggs that have been sold to egg breakers at prices that are significantly lower than table eggs. Traditionally these eggs have been sold to restaurants and other institutional users in a frozen form that may be stored up to a year without adversely affecting the taste of the eggs.

Loblaws new No-Name eggs are the first opportunity that the Ontario consumer has been given to directly participate in the savings available through surplus eggs.
