

Intermediate ladies roll with six big wins

The Richmond Hill Intermediate Ladies just keep rolling along as they recorded two more wins last week.

On Wednesday night the girls played Glenfield and beat them easily by a score of 12-1.

Winning pitcher Kelly MacInnis registered the win with five strikeouts as her team played errorless ball behind her.

Big hitter for the game was Sue O'Connell who had two triples and one single in four shots at bat. Sue Taylor played a strong game at shortstop for the Hill ladies.

On Thursday night the girls travelled to Pickering, where they won again, 5-1. Darlene Nelson registered 10 strikeouts against the home team. The first inning saw the Intermediates jump into a 2-0 lead, when Giselle Marchand walked and came home on Sue O'Connell's home run.

Then, in the third inning, Janet Buxton got on base when she was hit by the ball. She scored when Giselle Marchand hit a round tripper to give the visitors a 4-0 lead.

Pickering scored their lone run in the fifth, but Richmond Hill got it back with Katie McNamara's home run in the sixth.

Unfortunately, the game was marred by unsportsmanlike conduct because the Pickering coaches and team thought it necessary to remark on the personal appearance of the Richmond Hill players.

This continued right through the game — the umpires did nothing to control the remarks coming from the home side.

Pickering comes to Richmond Hill tonight (Wednesday) for a game at Town Park at 8:30 p.m.

Court heat could fry steaks

By ERICHANDBURY
Saturday was the annual barbecue day at the club and although the time-honored ways of charcoal-cooking the hamburger steaks was adopted, in truth, the day was so hot that the steaks would no doubt have fried just as quickly on the court surfaces.

drama and tension, with six teams in action this year, no trend can be reported except to say that the team with the most exotic title of 'The Magnificent Obsession', captained by Myrna Willison, lost magnificently 1-6 on Thursday last. A lemon by any other name.

Forty-eight members, their forms wavering in the heat-refracted air, played six four-point games each, crawling at the end of each set to the clubhouse oasis of ice-cold tomatoes and lemonade. As might be expected, victory came at the end with the combination of the sun-garled veteran and the courageous abandon of youth when Bill Tidey and Denise Aasen won the finals, gambling survival for the sake of a new can of balls.

The majors who may still be in the lead in the I.C.T.A. tournaments are nevertheless not doing as well as was first expected, although they are leading in sets won against their first three opponents, they have tied three times against York-Western, Mayfair Valley and Credit Valley.

The handicap doubles will be coming up very shortly and members are advised to find their partners for this event as soon as possible and post them in the clubhouse. From there on the usual procedure is not to play with this partner again before the event, unless you can be sure that you are being observed by a handicapper who will note how severely you are being affected by inadequacy or physical inability, thus increasing your chances of getting a high handicap.

Donna Stevenson again has to be congratulated on doing such a marvellous job as social convener. In the terms of the other organization we missed the presence of Bill Armstrong, who would have done a better job of rounding out the robin. The house league series has begun its long epic of

DQ girls 'just miss'

By LILLIAN CHEPELSKY

The Dairy Queen Bantam Girls displayed exceptional effort in reaching the championship finals in the Newmarket tournament last weekend, losing out to a fired-up Etobicoke team.

In the first game on Friday night, they had no problems defeating East Scarborough 17-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Kathy Chepelsky.

Running up the score with strong bats were Cathy Lawlor, with a home run, Karen Wells with two doubles, Karen McInnis, Patti O'Sullivan, Heather Moore, Joey Stephenson each with two singles and Kathy Chepelsky with four extra-base hits.

Saturday, Karen McInnis handled Newmarket easily, allowing only one hit and striking out 11. Helping the cause were Karen Wells, Patti O'Sullivan and Kelly Newson with extra-base hits and Janey Stephenson, with a homerun to make the score 15-2.

Sunday's first game was a thriller as they fought a see-saw battle against a determined Pickering team. It was decided in the final inning when, with Richmond Hill behind by one run, the bases loaded, Joey Stephenson met the challenge with a grand slam to win the game 10-7.

In the championship game, the girls ran out of steam, as they managed only seven scattered hits against Etobicoke, allowing them nine. The girls went down to defeat by a score of 6-1.

Cathy Lawlor scored the only run. In league play last Thursday against Malton, Pam MacInnis started on the mound, but was bailed out by Kathy Chepelsky when she ran into trouble. The two combined to strike out seven and allowed seven hits.

Richmond Hill capitalized on walks and well-placed hits to come out on top 10-5.

DQ Squirts lead league

The Richmond Hill Dairy Queen Squirts kept their unblemished record alive and remain atop the Etobicoke Softball Association following a 22-0 shellacking of Malton last week.

Robby Chepelsky went the distance on the mound and allowed only four hits while striking out 11 and walking three.

Dave Repath had four hits while Scott Low and Don Smith had two each. Joe Apps belted a triple.

In tournament play, the Hill Squirts travelled to Galt last Saturday and spent two games trying to get on track. They dropped both of them dismally.

In the first one, they carried a 10-8 lead into the bottom of the last inning, only to lose 11-10 to London.
