Charles Connor Library plans August programs

The Charles Connor Branch of the Richmond Hill Public Library has a couple of programs planned for August that are guaranteed to amuse the youngsters.

The Young People's Creative Puppet Show will visit Tuesday, August 7 with two performances.

'Goldilocks and The Three Bears' and 'One Eye, Two Eyes, Three Eyes'.

The puppet show will begin at 2 p.m. Library staff request everyone to pre-register by calling 773-5533 or drop by the library.

Later in the month on August 16 and 17 there will be a play club workshop for children of all ages. There will be a limit to the number of registrations accepted, so it is advisable to register early.

All materials will be supplied by the library.

SENIORS

Members of the Wheelhouse Club send birthday greetings to Edna Geary, who celebrated July 19.

The Wheelhouse Club, now at 12 King Side Road, is open all summer at varying times for the members to enjoy the facilities.

Dorothy Barnsdale at 773-5593, has times and additional information.

NEW TEAM

A new ball team has been formed in Oak Ridges and not many people are aware of it.

The team is called 'The Oaks' and consists of some very crazy husband-wife or boyfriend combinations, who are out to have a good time with other similar teams.

So far, this mad cap group has played two games. The first one doesn't deserve much mention, except to say, it was good practise.

The second game, played in Aurora Sunday night, was much different. The Oaks won. That is really saying something, because it gets a little difficult at times, to tell who is winning and who is losing.

MINOR BALL

Oak Ridges Minor Ball is enjoying a good come-back season and everyone is learning a lot about the sport and good fellowship.

A tournament will be held with Richvale, Richmond Hill and Oak Ridges teams on September 8 in Richmond Hill.

All parents are invited to be on hand to cheer their teams to victory.

A final celebration is being planned for September 15, but more about the nature of this will follow at a later date.

Children enjoy crafts, and when they can make their craft work for them, it's that much better. Willy Robinson, Michelle Jenny Schroer and Jerry McLaughlin (left to right) were among the 13 youngsters, who gathered at the Charles Connor Library last week to make and race turtles. The event was a great success.

Turtle racing is fun when you make the turtle

Multi-colored turtles and smiling faces of children: nothing could make a better combination of fun and good spirits.

Thirteen children, aged seven and up, were at the Charles Connor Library in Oak Ridges last Wednesday to take part in 'the great turtle race'.

Before the children could enter the race, they had to make their own turtles. This they accomplished with paper plates and construction paper. Crayons added the finishing touches.

Each turtle had to have a name and then the kids were set.

Lunch break was a time for strategy and planning, but as soon as the eating was done, the races got underway.

The turtles were attached to long strings, which were fastened securely to fixed objects at one end. From the other end, the owners of the turtles manoeuvred his or her own creation along the string.

On arriving at the far end of the string, the turtles then had to be returned to the start. The first one back was declared the winner. All the turtles couldn't be raced at once, and several heats were held before the finals.

Those taking part in the finals were: Willy Robinson, Jerry McLaughlin, Robert Wilkinson and Michele MacDonald.

Michele had the fastest turtle and took top honors. The best decorated turtle belonged to Jerry McLaughlin and the most original name 'Napper The Snapper' was awarded to Robert Wilkinson.

The program was sponsored by the Richmond Hill Public Library and there was no charge to the children for any of the materials.
