Marty Shultz, talented artist who is willing to share her gift with other handicapped people in the Thornhill area, demonstrates her creation of a rose in delicate shades of pink on a turquoise background.

Handicapped artist offers art classes in Thornhill area

There are many talented people in Thornhill and surrounding area, some, whose work seldom receives the exposure it deserves.

One of these gifted people is Marty Shultz, a delightful, refreshingly attractive blonde mother of three; grown-up son Jim, married daughter Joanne, both living in Australia, and 15-year-old Lisa still living at home.

Marty's unique situation is that she is confined to a wheelchair and has been for the past eight years; a victim of that nerve attacking disease, Multiple Sclerosis.

'Confined' is not a properly descriptive term, as applied to Marty, since, in 1977 she spent two weeks touring Switzerland, Austria, Italy and Germany and in 1978 spent another two weeks in Hawaii. She has previously visited Australia.

Marty is not content with creating her own beautiful water color still life and portraits as well as scenery; she wants to help others accomplish these ends as well, and has begun a program of arts and crafts lessons for the physically disabled of Thornhill and surrounding areas.

Marty is a member of the Willowbrook Group of Artists and the Thornhill Artists.

The Thornhill Lions Club is providing transportation via PHIACS (Physically Handicapped Independent Advancement Community Services) Vans for wheelchair and ambulatory patients.

The present plan is a series of 6-weekly 2-hour sessions beginning on August 2 at 11 a.m. at the Gallanough Library at the end of Brooke Street, Thornhill.

Depending on the response, this agenda can be extended or expanded to include other activities.

Marty Shultz will be the instructor and has had the experience of participating in a similar program which proved to be very popular.

In addition to these plans for the future, Mrs. Shultz also gives instruction in water color to residents of her apartment building at 8111 Yonge Street.

Anyone who has some free time to donate would be welcomed at the Gallanough Library classes beginning on Thursday, August 2, to serve refreshments, or to demonstrate some fun time skill. You may call Marty Shultz at 881-5043.

The Oak Ridges teams have played against teams from Richmond Hill and Richvale throughout the season and results have appeared weekly in the paper.

A tournament featuring teams from the three communities is scheduled for September 8 in Richmond Hill and parents and friends are encouraged to be there to support the Oak Ridges teams.

A spectacular wind up for ball season has been planned for September 15 at Bond Lake Arena.

A Donkey baseball game is being organized and music stars from the Country Western field have been invited.

Additional details will appear in this column as soon as they become available.

"Touch people in My Name."

"On the night of January 28, 1976, I witnessed the miraculous healing of a good friend while praying for him in his hospital room. Later, God spoke to my heart, telling me to step out in faith and touch people in His name — and that it would be Him touching them, not me.

Since that night I've seen God heal spiritually, physically and emotionally sick people time and time again. I've seen prayers answered and lives changed.

All of us have needs that can only be met by God. And I believe that God wants to meet those needs.

Come and let me pray for you — believing and expecting God to touch your life."
