Carnival

Winter sports are a favorite with people all over Canada, but the people in Richmond Hill are a special hardy breed.

The Winter Carnival, held in early February, has winter sports and other outdoor winter activities to appeal to everyone.

The carnival is held at the Mill Pond at Mill and Trench Streets, and for 11 years people from Richmond Hill and surrounding communities have gathered for games of sport and contests of every sort.

The bed race held on the ice at the pond, is always a popular attraction, and town teams and service organizations find new ways every year of making their entry the best looking and the fastest.

The rules are strict, and the hilarity and laughter abounds.

All community schools compete in the interschool hockey tournament, where fun and good sportsmanship is the order of the day.

Local school children create ice sculptures that keep getting more elaborate as the years go by. The winners of this contest usually gloat for weeks.

There are races for youngsters from the tiniest tot to the teens, and no one seems to complain of the cold.
