New exec says

Family Services is alive and well

"Family Services is alive and well and happy to serve the citizens of the Richmond Hill-Thornhill area," says Bob Murcar, the newly appointed Executive Director of the agency. "That's one of the messages I want to get across to the community while I'm Executive Director."

Mr. Murcar assumed his new duties yesterday. Prior to his appointment, Mr. Murcar worked part time for Family Services for five years as a counsellor and supervisor of intern counsellors.

He also maintained a private practice in individual, marriage and family therapy at Mountainside Medical Centre in Burlington.

Mr. Murcar is a graduate of the University of Toronto and did his post graduate studies at the Union

BOB MURCAR

Theological Seminary and the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry, majoring in marriage and individual counselling. He has practised counselling for the past 16 years in New York and Ontario.

As Executive Director his duties will be divided among administration, counselling and supervision.

He hopes to make the agency's services better known to the community by renewing and establishing new contacts with local groups.

He plans to meet soon with local professionals in the area to acquaint them with new developments in the agency.

He also wants to use a recently completed slide tape presentation about Family Services to inform the general public.

Mr. Murcar succeeds Taylor Alexander who is now working as Head of Social Work at Sunnybrook Medical Centre. Family Services is a member of the United Way of York Region.
