Three area youngsters recently enjoyed a special Christmas treat - they played the part of elves and helped Santa Claus make toys in his York Region workshop. From left are Melody Smith of Oak Ridges, Samantha Taylor of Richmond Hill and Jason Botchford of Aurora. They visited Santa's workshop in the Dalziel Barn in a section of Black Creek Pioneer Village just north of Steeles Avenue. The workshop is open to the public this Saturday and Sunday. Santa asked us to assure all our young readers that he has read all their letters and will be working overtime this week to be ready for his big trip next Monday night. And we at The Liberal would like to wish all our readers...
