OBITUARY

MR B. KINKADE

A very sad and sudden death occurred two weeks ago when Burton Kinkade, son of T. Kinkade, passed away at the early age of seventeen. He was in his usual good health until Tuesday morning, when he was suddenly stricken with intestinal obstruction. On Wednesday an operation for a time gave hope, but the strain proved too great. On Thursday morning the promising young life passed quietly away, leaving his parents and two brothers to mourn his loss. The funeral which was very largely attended, was conducted by Rev. D. L. Gordon. The sympathy of the whole community goes out to the bereaved home. —Citizen—

Many Postoffices Closed

The rapidity with which the Postal Department is establishing rural mail delivery is shown by the fact that during the past four months two hundred postoffices were closed owing to the location of new routes. The majority of these are in Ontario as new rural mail routes are being established daily in this Province. Prince Edward Island will soon have rural delivery over the Province no less than twenty-one country postoffices were closed during the four months. There is little attempt as yet to establish rural mail delivery in the West owing to the distances between the settlers, the bad roads and difficulties in securing carriers. To establish sufficient postoffices to keep pace with the growth of the country is what the department wants.

CHESTERVILLE FAIR

The fair at Chesterville which was to have been held Friday and Saturday of last week was cancelled on account of the inclement weather. It was postponed until September 18. There was a fairly good attendance of visitors but on Friday the rain prevented much travel. The horse races were postponed on account of the unfavorable condition of the track yet, the disappointment at the postponement of the fair was more than counter-balanced by the pleasure of the people at seeing the rain, which will be a great boon to the crops.

Work on Construction of Ottawa and Morrisburg Electric Ry. Commenced

Work on the construction of the Morrisburg and Ottawa Electric railway was started at three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

There was no silver spade for turning the first sod, wilful waste of perfectly good champagne to moisten the earth, no distinguished members of parliament, no elaborate ceremonies. The start was made with an ordinary work-day plough pulled by an ordinary bay team of horses. The only unusual feature was that Mr J. G. Kilt, the president of the company, held the plough handles. Some one has said some things about once putting your hands to the plough never letting go till the end of the furrow is reached. But J. G. Kilt apparently had not heard of the admonition. He let go after the team had pulled the plough about fifty feet, turning up a furrow from an inch to a foot deep for Mr Kilt is no prize ploughman. Then the regular man for the job got hold and continued. Behind the first plough came two more and several scrapers were waiting to take the earth from the high places to those which have to be filled in. It was a business-like start in every way and the work will be kept right on. By Monday there will be at least a mile on the job.

The start was made on the Potvin farm or what is now known as the Iberville townsite, 3 1-2 miles from Billing Bridge. The company has not yet definitely decided the exact route into the city from a little this side of the starting point, but Mr Kilt says the route will be fixed within the next few days and in three weeks the work should be completed to the city. The route is now all surveyed and staked as far as Greely, which is twelve miles from Billing's Bridge, and by the time the contractor reaches there the engineers will have another stretch ready for him.

Among those who were present at the start were Mr Kilt, Mr R. J. Bigger, vice-president, Mr A. H. Coplan a director, Mr R. A. Bishop secretary, Mr L. Von Sydow, engineer in charge; Mr R. J. Tierney, the contractor; several newspaper men and a number of residents from the district. After the first furrow had been started the contractor's men kept right on. The others, however, went to the house occupied by the engineer's staff where quite an elaborate luncheon was prepared and where a few informal speeches were indulged in and well wishes expressed for rapid progress in the work and all kinds of prosperity for the road.

Quite a pretentious camp has been set up near the beginning of the work. The engineers have a frame house that was formerly a farm dwelling, but the others have tents. These include sleeping tents, dining tent, cook house, horse tents, etc. The camp is ideally located and the engineer and contractor have a crowd of men who look well able to carry out the work which has been started. It is likely tracks will be laid and the line put in operation. The total distance to Morrisburg is fifty one miles. —Citizen—
