Jones and Brown

Jones sent his son to college to soak up scientific knowledge on how to make the old farm pay a thousand dollars a year. Brown gave his boy a rifle and hoe and told him that he'd better go and renovate the cornfield so each stock would bear an ear. Now when these rural neighbors had ceased their earthly labors to rest in peace and silence until resurrection morn. Young Jones was making money on buttermilk and honey, while Brown was facing failure, though he kept on hoeing corn.
Jones weeded out his taters with two rows cultivators. Brown used a double shovel hitched behind an aged mule. Jones read the dily papers while Brown was cutting capers in the barnyard with old Brindle and a one-leg milking stool.
Jones a few commotions with his farmers' college notions, but he also raised the mortgage growing crops of corn and hay. Though Brown worked to beat the devil he would tell you on the level that no college cultured dude could farm and even make it pay. In these days of competition, farmers must have some ambition and keep pace with modern methods, mowing grass or shearing sheep. And the man who's up and going, learning all the things worth knowing, will be growing into money while his neighbors are asleep.

There were only eight fatalities and 365 people injured in the 4th of July celebrations in the States this year, as compared with the average of 4,000 killed and injured a few years ago. The reduction is due to the Sane Fourth of July movement.

Young? Yes—the oldest Ford is just ten years young—this month.
And its youngest brother is the choice of the lot—a better car than those we built not long ago and sold at nearly twice its price. Big production makes the Ford price low.

More than 275,000 Fords now in service con-vin-cing evidence of this wonderful merit. Runabout

Potatoe Canker Danger

Potatoe Canker should not be allowed to gain a foothold in Canada.
It is a disease that makes slow progress but where once broken out it has defied every known means of control. With the approach of the potatoe harvest all growers are particularly requested to examine their potatoes for signs of canker. A case of potato canker escaping detection forms a source of future infection. The appearance of this disease has been well illustrated by the Farmers Circular No 3. obtainable free of charge from the Publication Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Potatoe Canker owing to its serious nature has been made subject to certain legislative measures under the Dominion Destructive Insect and Pest Act. In order to familiarize the farmer with the requirements of the Act their attention is called to the following extracts, and other information concerning the necessary steps to be taken in case potatoe canker is discovered in any locality.

1 On discovery of any signs of potatoe canker farmers should immediately notify the Dominion Botanist Experimental Farm, Ottawa, of the outbreak, at the same time submitting specimen, when an inspector will be sent to assist and advise the farmer as regards the treatment to be given.

2 Unless prompt action is taken and the authorities are notified without delay the whole crop of potatoes whether apparently sound or diseased is liable to destruction under "The Destructive Insect and Pest Act" Regulation 7 and 8 reading.

3 If, on inspection, nursery stock other vegetation or vegetable matter is found to be infected with any of the insects, pests or disease hereinafter specified, it shall be destroyed to the extent deemed necessary by the inspector and in his presence.
All cases, packages and packing in which such stock has been contained shall also be destroyed in the same manner.

4 Any inspector entering any land nursery or other premises where it is reason to believe that any of the insects, pests or disease hereinafter specified are or may be present, shall give instructions for the treatment or destruction of any tree, bush or any vegetation or vegetable matter or the containers thereof, which may be found or suspected to be infected with any of the insects, pests or disease hereinafter specified, and such instructions shall be carried out by the owner or lessee of the infected thereof and such remedial treatment or destructions shall be carried out and continued until the insect, pest or disease shall be deemed by the inspector to have been exterminated.

5 Cut off and burn all potatoes tops or stalks without removing them from the infested area.

6 Dig at once all potatoes on your farm, carefully hand pick them and those apparently or perfectly sound.

7 Place the diseased tubers in a pile and cover with earth. The inspector will advise you regarding their disposal.

8 All perfectly or apparently sound tubers may be stored in the usual way but none must be used for any purpose whatever until the inspector has given permission.

9 Allow no tubers to remain in the ground nor any animal to have access to an infected field. The organism causing the disease is liable to be spread though the excreta of animals having eaten infected potatoes in a raw condition.
