Injuries Prove Fatal To District Farmer

Succumbing to injuries received at his home near Harmony on Thursday evening of last week, Henry Wood prominent farmer of this district, died at the Ottawa Civic Hospital at two o'clock last Tuesday morning. Mr. Wood was taken to the hospital after he had been tramped and crushed by one of his cows, while assisting wit the milking.

He and his brother John were both in the barn at the time. Upon hearing the injured man shout for help, John immediately left the cow he was milking and went to investigate his brother's plight. He found him lying on the barn floor between two cows. Realizing he was seriously injured, John had him removed to the house. and called Dr. J. J. Kendry, of Winchester.

After examining the man, the physician had Mr. Wood rushed to hospital where an X-ray examination revealed that he had suffered a fractured spine, just below the base of his skull. Little hope was held out for his recovery and he passed away as recorded above.

Just how the accident occurred cannot be learned, as the man's brother was busy milking a cow several yards away and did not see what happened. However, it is believed days with Mrs. D. McNab and Mrs. that the cow crowded its milker off of the stool and probably kicked him or trampled on him.

The late Mr. Wood was born near Harmony, five miles north of Winchester, 75 years ago, a son of the pioneer settlers of the district. For the past 35 years he had operated farms at Russell and Harmony, and between the two places had spent his entire life. He was of a quiet and reserved nature and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends who will regret his passing.

He was a member of Harmony L.O.L. and Ormond Baptist Church. Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. J McGregor, of Winnipeg; Mrs. Willis Froats, of Port Dalhousie; and Misses Effie and Nellie Wood, at home; also one brother, John Wood.

It is expected the funeral service
