Warriors fade in final frame

by Gary Ris

A third period barrage of penalties and lack of discipline cost the Russell Warriors again as the Limoges Royals roared back from a 5-2 deficit to steal a 6-5 victory in Intermediate hockey at the Dr. Frank Kinnaird Community Centre.

"We just fell apart," said Kirk Rothenberger of the Warriors effort in the third period. "We didn't play good enough to win."

Kenny Sullivan, who was held scoreless for the first time in the four games he's played, said: "Too many mental mistakes resulted in penalties which hurt us."

QUESTIONS OFFICIATING

Russell playing-coach Doug Harten didn't like the calls against his team, especially the infractions for body contact.

"The referees were calling body contact but also let some body contact go."

With the Warriors leading 5-2 and in control of the game, play began to get rough and Russell took some needless penalties.

The Royals were presented a golden opportunity to narrow the gap when Kirk Rothenberger was called for tripping and Leo Achterecke for unsportsmanlike conduct at 3:54 of the third period. Robert Leduc split the Russell defence and sent a shot past Russell goalie Dwayne Lowe at 5:12. Seventeen seconds later and a one man advantage, Denis Gibeault scored to make it 5-4.

NOT FINISHED

The Warriors weren't through taking dumb penalties. A tripping penalty at 8:19 put Russell back in trouble. The Royals' Denis Lamadeline scored on the power play to set the stage for the finish.

Denis Gibeault capped off the wild comeback when he scored with at 18:32 as the Warriors continued their abysmal season.

Wayne Warnock, Gaetan Forgues, Fred Young, Paul Boland and Rothenberger scored singles for the Warriors. Richard Ayotte notched two goals to round out the Royals scoring.

Tripped up on the play — but successful nevertheless — was Paul Cochrane, forward for the Russell Warriors, who tucked the puck into the net to score against the Casselman Eagles. All in vain, however, because the Eagles came back to beat the home-town Warriors 8-7.

Girls Hockey

Catheline Doyle scored seven times and Carolyn McGill scored three as Osgoode beat Russell 13-1. Tracey Mead scored for Russell.

Ramblings

Tough play in ladies hockey

by Jack McLaren

It was news to me to learn couple of weeks ago that Russell now sports a girls or perhaps I should say a ladies hockey team. A few years back attempts were made at organizing a girls ringette team but lack of interest on the part of the girls soon discouraged the people promoting the sport and it fell by the wayside.

I doubt if that will happen to the hockey team with Mr. Enthusiasm himself, Don Empey at the helm. To find out more about his new venture I talked to him a few nights back and despite the teams lack of experience he is very encouraged by its enthusiasm for the game.

He pointed out that the team is part of the Russell Minor Hockey Association and therefore are called the Russell Warriors or is it Warriorettes?

Assisting Don with the coaching is Paul Cochrane and Scott Young. The team has just received new sweaters thanks to sponsors McDonald Construction and Novelair Ltd. of Ottawa.

In this their first year of operation, the team is entered in the well-established COMEK league with Metcalfe, Osgoode, Kemptville and Embrun.

Competition is very tough and scoring even one goal against some of the teams is reason for celebration. But experience is being gained and Don points out that the Russell team which averages 14 years per player is easily the youngest team in the league. Many of the other teams are going with 16-18 year olds only.

The youngest member is Dawn Empey as the ripe old age of 12. The organizers had hoped that a few more girls would have come out and played on the team which is presently down to 10 players.

The high cost of equipment may have changed the minds of some but organizers are hoping that once established, the team will pick up additional players next season.

Team members are Tammy Groves (goalie), Angel Groves,

Tracey Meade, Kim Addler, Korina Eggum, Raye Simpson, Jenny Freda, France Perras, Annette Therikelsen and Dawn Empey.

Despite suffering early losses, team enthusiasm is high and a lot of patience will be needed against the more experienced teams. A successful season need not necessarily be measured in the number of wins or losses.

The team is young and all the "old veterans" will be returning next season. Home games are played every Saturday at the Dr. F. Kinnaird Community Centre starting at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.
