PLANNING

Planning is one of the few areas of local government where the results can be clearly identified and quickly seen. The following are some of the guidelines.

Rural Areas

Do not allow houses to be built every 150' on country roads (a) because the costs of hydro, telephone, school busing, postal delivery, dust control, road maintenance, garbage collection etc., are astronomical in comparison with provision of the same services in villages, and because the commuter population soon starts objecting to the smells of adjacent farms and the noise of farm machinery after dark (you may find it hard Ontario, some Townships have had to pass by-laws controlling the farm smells and noises).

Allow even fewer houses on main-market roads (county roads) as these are intended to carry heavy traffic at 50 mph and residential density slows it down: some authorities recommend minumum frontages of 650' (for example as you leave Russell going toward Embrun there is a full mile of road beyond the village limits which should be zoned to 30 mph, the same exists as you exit from Embrun with the result that short distance driving the between the two villages is becoming an inconvenience).

Do not break-up farm land into uneconomic units. In Russell these principles are generally applied in the 1976 official plan permitting farmers to save only 2 one-acre housing to believe but in Southern units for family members per 100 acres, by requiring rural wasteland lots to be at least 5 acres, and by discouraging the idea of hobby farms.

Trailer Parks

Everyone dislikes trailers except the people who live in them. At present there is one improperly located trailer park in the Township and all other trailers are forbidden. But why? You can build a 600 sq. ft. house with no basement, on any site, so why not a trailer? Trailer Parks are another matter. A local farmer applying to subdivide land near the villages will argue and negotiate with 25 different agencies for two years before he can obtain sub-division approval, and even then he may not be permitted to build houses for several years. But with the consent of the local council the same farmer can locate two or three times as many families on his land without even submitting a letter, let alone a sub-division plan,
