
MEN'S CLUB OF WELLAND AVE. CHURCH

Crowded Auditorium As Annual Ladies' Night Held

Last night the auditorium of Welland Avenue Church was crowded as the Men's Club celebrated its annual ladies' night. The reception committee, headed by Mrs. Smith, the president's wife, welcomed the guests in the tastefully decorated hallway and at 6:30 the crowd sat down at very pretty tables, to a splendid supper provided by the men of the club.

A number of the young men of the church acted as waiters and looked quite smart as they marched up to the stage with their white aprons and caps. They lined up on the stage and sang a jolly waiters chorus and then marched off and speedily served the large crowd. Bill Boucock's orchestra enlivened the meal with snappy music which was much enjoyed.

Charlies Smith, president of the club opened the program with a capital speech and took occasion to thank all those who had contributed toward the evening's entertainment, especially emphasizing the work of Mrs. E. Hicks, who had looked after the decorating of the hall and tables. Ed Teasdale, in proposing a toast to the Ladies, spoke most highly of the wonderful work the ladies of Welland avenue did both for the club and the church. The members of the club showed their appreciation by the hearty singing of "They are Jolly Good Fellows." Mrs. Scott, president of the Women's association replied to the toast to the ladies with a very effective speech detailing the various activities of the Church and expressing the pleasure of the ladies in being able to co-operate with the men in their work.
