

What do you do when your duffel bag is stuffed full and there's more coats and jackets, caps and canvasses still to be packed? Leading Cadet Larry Cotnam, left, and Petty Officer Gabriel Habib looked for some easy solution last night as they prepared for their two-week visit, along with nine other local sea cadets, to CFB Cornwallis, N.S. the Royal Canadian Navy base for recruits. The only answer: take everything out and pack it tighter — and that explains the pained expressions. They leave for Nova Scotia Sunday.
