Summer Theatre Undertaking for Marysburgh Mummies

The next project for the Marysburgh Mummies is "The Tomorrow Box", a Canadian play by playwright Anne Chislet that opened at the Kawartha Summer Theatre in Lindsay and most recently has played at the Blyth Festival for several seasons proving popular with both locals and tourists. The play centres around the selling of the family farm, so will appeal to Prince Edward County folk as well.

Lifestyles collide and old values are challenged in this fresh look at the gap between the generations and the even larger gap between the sexes. "The Tomorrow Box" tells the story of two marriages in an Ontario farming family. Newlyweds, Joe and Alice, are determined to make their marriage a loving and equal partnership. Joe's father, Jack, comes from the old
