turnoff. The story was so complicated and filled with clues you couldn't guess who was guilty - the tape stopped or rather the sound stopped while the tape continued. There was nothing there.

Needless to say, the atmosphere in the car became quite cold. Aside from some initial comments about my mental and physical abilities, dead silence reigned. I felt like a jerk. We turned off the highway and headed to my cousins'.

"Look Valerie, I know what we can do, We'll go right down to the library, we have to re-join anyway. You can take the book off the shelf and read the last chapter".

She looked at me with a peculiar expression on her face. Finally she said "John, over the years you have earned a reputation with which I wholeheartedly agree as being a great problem-solver" I started to smile when she continued "but as a problem creator you are without equal"

Isn't it amazing how an insult can sound like a compliment.

By the way we buy our talking books now and trade with Nancy, who of course, records her own!

...MAJOR RESCUE AT THE OLD "SWIMMIN' HOLE..."

IT HAS COME TO THE ATTENTION OF THE SOUTH MARYSBURGH REC COMMITTEE THAT, THANKS TO THE EFFORT OF FOUR "FINE STRAPPING YOUNG MEN", THE RAFT THAT STRAYED AWAY FROM THE OLD "SWIMMIN' HOLE" HAS FOUND IT'S WAY BACK HOME.

WITH ALL OUR RECENT STORMS, THE RAFT HAD DRIFTED AWAY AND LODGED DOWN UNDER THE BRIDGE. KNOWING THAT SWIMMING WOULD JUST NOT BE THE SAME WITHOUT "THE RAFT", DAVID, COREY, BRIAN AND CHRIS, TOOK IT UPON THEMSELVES TO RESCUE THE STRAY, AND PADDLE IT (ANCHOR AND ALL) BACK HOME TO SAFETY.

THANKS GUYS FOR ALL YOUR HARD WORK!
