Eternal Sun Shine

Where Sun Shines through the rain
On the grayest afternoon,
When the clouds seem Oh so endless,
One can find bright skies in Milford
And a warm sun too, no less.
This kind of brightness that is found
Is not the visible kind,
But just look all about you
It's really not hard to find.
For the sun shines all around you,
In the stores, in the streets;
In the many antique views.
In the hearts of all the people
Who are there for you to meet.
Look around to purity and nature,
Or simply share with the folks
In the latest small town news.
So when your daytime skies are dark,
And you're feeling quite unrenown
Brighten your cloudy day in Milford
Here in our home - our small town.

Our September 8th meeting began at 12:30 p.m. at Matthie's Sunnyside Farm in Bloomfield for a tour of their apple processing plant, a huge modern facility which washes, sorts, polishes and packs thousands of apples for sale, for juicing elsewhere, or for cold storage on the premises. Back at the Community Hall in Cherry Valley, after refreshing glasses of apple cider, the roll call was to give an apple-related item for the Picton Food Bank.

We zipped efficiently through minutes, financial statement, correspondence, (which included thanks for our donation to the Mohawk Chapel Restoration Fund) and motions to pay bills and to donate to the Melissa Fund and to the Young Offenders group in Picton. Reports were read on Athol Day, our Sunshine Fund, and the annual August outing. We made plans for volunteering at the Picton Fair and at the Amazing Loyalist Country Adventure, for our next meeting on October 13th, with a speaker from the CNIB at the Plourde residence for attending the Area Convention in Belleville on October 15th and for our Chrysanthemum Tea on Saturday, October 17th.

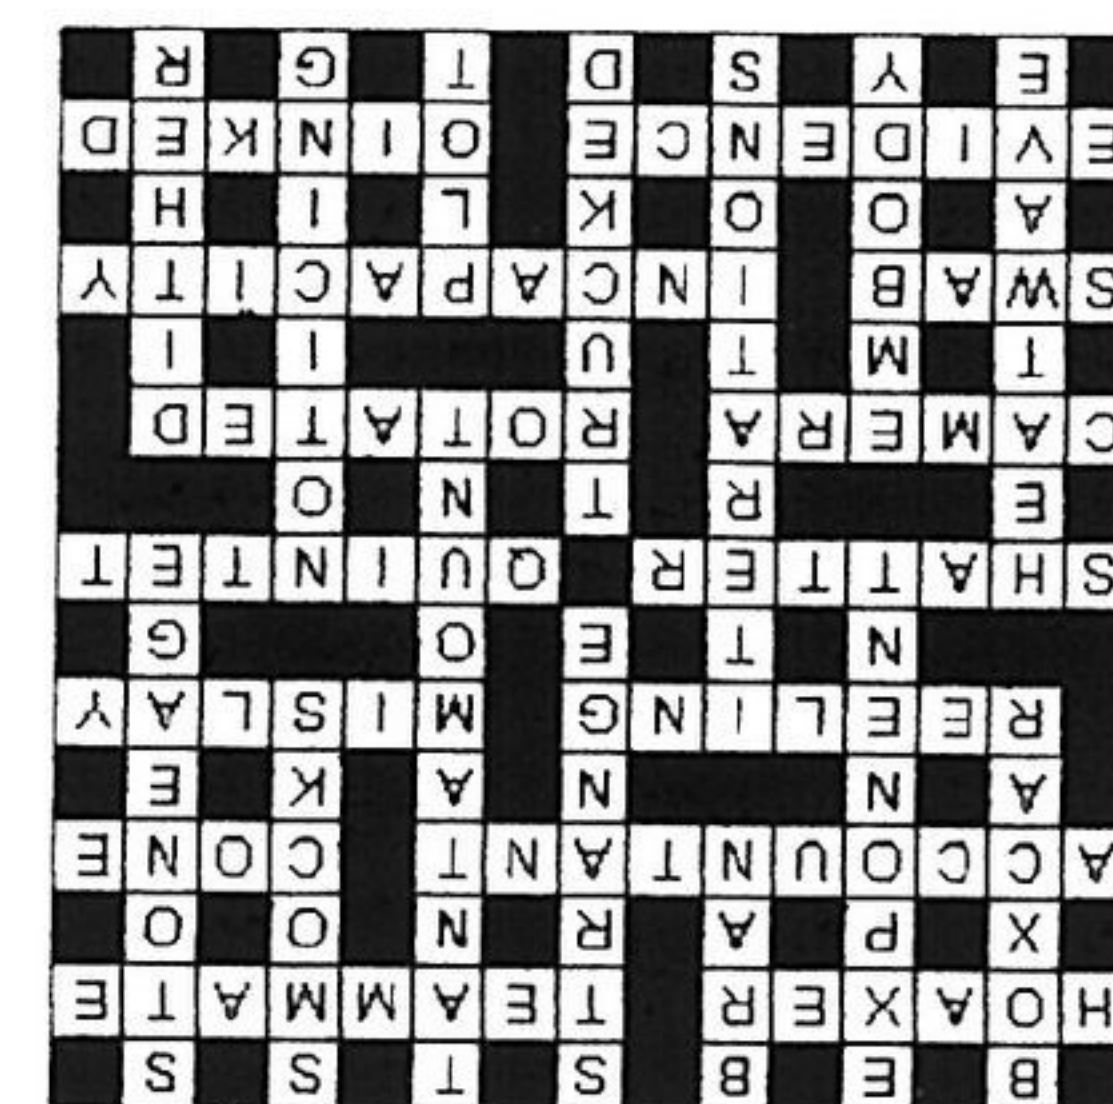

We have decided to print 100 more of our popular Centennial Cookbooks. Order yours from Marie

An English professor wrote the words, "Woman without her man is nothing" on the blackboard and directed his students to punctuate it correctly.

The men wrote: "Woman, without her man, is nothing."

The women wrote: "Woman! Without her, man is nothing."

PUZZLE SOLUTION

at 476-5048. After all this business, quoting the motto "An Apple A Day Keeps The Doctor Away", Madelaine Plourde introduced the game, "Pass The Apple", and turned on the music! The last person remaining in the game, and so winning a large basket of apples was Anna Kleinstuber. To complete the afternoon our refreshments included apple wedges, apple cinnamon tea, and apple cake, all served on an apple-covered tablecloth with apple motif napkins.
