

LIBRARY NOTES

We are extra busy this fall with our preparations for automation. Rob & I are entering all our patrons records into the database, in anticipation of the arrival of new library cards. So be prepared to receive another new library membership number. It will be essential that library users bring their new cards to library each and every time they wish to borrow books. We also await the delivery of barcodes which will be attached to each and every book in the library. This barcode and the library patron barcode number will create our circulation files, so that we know who has what book checked out at any given time. Overdue books will be caught more efficiently than has been in the past. The system will calculate fines and store the information of unpaid fines. We will have to be a little more conscientious on collecting overdue fines.

We are also busy with Preschool Storytime. Every Tuesday at 1:30 p.m., Lynette Pettit is here to read stories, sing songs and do crafts with the little ones. It sure looks like a lot of fun, so if you have a preschool child who is at home, come on over and join in the fun.

Thursday Sept. 30, all the classes at South Marysburgh School will start visiting the library. Each week a different class will arrive at 1:30 for a tour of the library and a story or two. So if you plan to visit the library you may want to reconsider the times when we are at our busiest.

Friends of the Library are busy planning the Pampered Chef Luncheon and Kitchenware Demo on Sat. Nov. 13. Watch the mail for your personal invitation. And please come out and join the fun. The food should be great, the company even better, and its a chance to get your Christmas shopping under control. If you have any questions, please give us a call at the Library 476-4130.
