know that where there's smoke there's fire, eh? Still, there's enough of a seed of truth to write the headline. During a recent Fair Board meeting we were doing one of our favourite things, looking through many of the posters that our school children draw for the Fair. As we looked at one it showed cows, and horses – and, we think, an elephant. Which says volumes about the marvelous imagination of kids, and really does speak to why we hold the Fair every year. However, we do promise to have at least one fairly large cow – for the bingo -- and some fairly large horses. So as you see these posters count your blessings. It's the Fair through the eyes of children.

Congratulations to the winners of the poster contests. For the posters being hung at businesses here and in Picton: First, Christopher Steenburgh; second, Jarrod Keogh; and third, Dana Mills. For the poster that is on the cover of the information and prize booklet: First, Nathalie White; second, Alex Larkin; and third, Mackenzie Miller.

Milford Fair Initiates First Search for Canine Idol!

Here's the kind of headline that hitchhikes on something that's already in the public's imagination – which sounds vaguely familiar. For several years John Lammes' dog of the time was a great champion, winning every contest. John has sponsored a prize for "Best in Show" in honour of the dog, and it's awarded every year. Another prize has been donated for this year, which might be won by the

Remember get your tickets early. Last year they sold out fast. As in the past, all profits will be going to our local hospital.

Please give me a call at 476-1705 if you're interested in volunteering or want further info about the jamboree.

Thank you for your ongoing support and hope to see you in September.

Sincerely, Bonnie McIntosh
